State Realignment Shown by Election

Political Power Structure Of Wisconsin Has Changed With Election of Reynolds

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — If any further proof of the realignment of politics in Wisconsin is needed, it was provided in the exceedingly close decisions of the people of Wisconsin in the voting for governor and U. S. senator.

All the evidence indicates that the political power structure of Wisconsin has changed permanently. In their election of Gaylord Nelson over Sen. Alexander Wiley, the most familiar figure in state politics, the Democrats recorded a heavy triumph. In the close competition for the governorship, however, the Democrats made their most impressive long-range showing.

The governorship in Wisconsin is the heart of political power, and the best test of the relative position of the rival political parties.

Equally Divided

By that measure, the people of Wisconsin are so equally divided in their political states that neither party can claim superiority with any confidence.

What happened Tuesday? It is easy to conclude that voters responded to the personal charm and the campaigning dignity of an effective governor, pressing his claim over an elderly and increasingly uncertain Republican incumbent who faced the first serious challenge of his long political career.

Republicans knew from the first moment the campaign started that their Sen. Alexander Wiley, 78 and difficult to handle, had a doubtful outlook.

Nelson and the Democrats capitalized on the venerable incumbent's liabilities as the experts in modern campaign techniques that they are

Since Nelson campaigned without equivocation as a supporter of President Kennedy, the White House will score the Wisconsin returns as backing for the administration and its program, although Mr. Kennedy lost Wisconsin in his presidential bid, and tried and failed to get Nelson to back him as a candidate for the nomination early in 1960.

Yet the Nelson career on balance, is a brilliant thing measured against the political history of the state. Nobody wearing his political colors has been quite as successful in Wisconsin combat. He becomes without much fear of challenge the most important Democrat in the state on the basis of Tuesday's performance.

It is possible for the Republican professionals to argue that the basic loyalty of the Wisconsin voters is Republican. They continued in control of the state legislature. They elected their state of minor state office candidates, some of them by margins that approached landslides in perspective.

Not Related

But the minor offices are not related to policy and power. Legislative incumbents, running in local districts, tend to have an advantage.

The true measure of political

Ted Kennedy Wins Easily In Bay State

Younger Brother Leads Democrats In Easy Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy, the President's kid brother, has scored a smashing triumph over Republican George C. Lodge to win his brother's old seat in the U.S. Senate.

With 1,225 of 2,011 precincts tallied, the count was: Kennedy 609,297; Lodge 359,779.

The President was quoted as being "extremely pleased."

The Kennedy landslide Tuesday promised to surpass the 511,000-vote margin rolled up by his brother two years ago when he won the presidency.

The 30-year-old member of the politically potent Kennedy clan rolled up such a margin in his first race for public office that he carried fellow Democrat Endicott Peabody to an upset victory for governor over the incumbent Gov. John A. Volpe.

With 1,225 of 2,011 precincts tallied, the count was: Peabody 534,928; Volpe 451,083.

The only Republican candidate for a statewide office to survive the Kennedy Democratic sweep was Attorney General-elect Edward W. Brooke, who will be the first Negro to hold a major office in Massachusetts.

Kennedy Feud
For the Kennedy family, it was a victory in round 4 of a 46-year-old feud at the polls with the Lodge family.

President Kennedy defeated George's father, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., for the same Senate seat in 1952. He beat him again in 1960 when the elder Lodge ran for vice president against a Democratic ticket led by Kennedy.

Back in 1916 the original Henry Cabot Lodge, George's great-grandfather, turned back a Senate bid by John F. Fitzgerald, grandfather of the Kennedys.

Either a Lodge or a Kennedy has held the same seat in the Senate for 45 of the last 69 years.

Landslide Early
The Kennedy landslide was apparent less than an hour after the polls closed at 8 p.m. but the Lodge refused to concede until 2

Shooting War Looms In Middle East as Accusations Continue

Saudi Arabia Ends Diplomatic Relations With Nasser's UAR

BY FAROUK NASSAR

DAMASCUS, Syria, (AP)—The Middle East moved a step closer to an Arab shooting war today as Saudi Arabia accused the United Arab Republic of attacks by sea and air and massed troops to battle a threatened invasion.

Saudi Arabia announced it has broken diplomatic relations with Cairo in the deepening crisis touched off in September when a revolution backed by U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser toppled the monarchy in Yemen.

Saudi Arabia and Jordan, both monarchies, have been supporting royalist Yemeni warriors seeking to crush the revolution.

The U.A.R. has been pouring men, planes and tanks into Yemen to back the republican regime.

No Landings
Saudi Premier Prince Faisal said "great fatal casualties and property losses" were caused by a U.A.R. bombardment of two villages near the important Saudi Red Sea port of Quizan Tuesday.

Faisal said the bombardment had not been accompanied by troop landings so far but the revolutionary president of neighboring Yemen announced he had decided to seize the port and also Najran, a border town 150 miles inland. The two towns were captured in 1932 by forces of the late King Ibn Saud in a short war with Yemen.

A Saudi communique said U.A.R. planes and three naval units attacked the villages of Al Muswassem and Khalaf near the port. Faisal said the attacking naval units were destroyers.

He also told a news conference his government will supply tanks and planes if requested by Imam Mohammad Al-Badr, deposed king of Yemen whose tribal warriors have been fighting to recapture the throne.

As the situation worsened, President Nazam El Kuds of Syria called for Pan-Arab mediation by the kings or other heads of state of Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Sudan, Lebanon and Iraq.

Mrs. Roosevelt Not Told of Elections

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, confined with anemia and a lung infection, was not kept informed of election developments because of her weakened condition, a family spokesman said today.

No provision had been made for an absentee ballot because it had been felt the 78-year-old former First Lady would have recovered by election time. So she was unable to vote.

The spokesman said she rested quietly during the last 24 hours, but that her condition remains unchanged.

None of which are involved in the Yemen dispute.

Most Arab experts and impartial diplomats say Nasser holds the key to whether ground fighting expands into anything greater than action inside Yemen. They said Sallal, despite his threats, does not have the manpower to carry out organized military operations on a large scale.

In Beirut reliable informants said Egyptian military forces in Yemen thus far have lost 200 killed and an unknown number of wounded and that Nasser's prestige is thus deeply committed.

A Jordan broadcast said that Al-Badr's forces, continuing their march on the revolutionary capital of Sana, killed or captured a large number of rebels and supporting Egyptians Tuesday and seized large quantities of ammunition.

North Shore Won't Halt Service Yet

CHICAGO (AP) — North Shore line president Harold Mason said that regardless of the outcome of a hearing before federal judges here today the line will not discontinue service Thursday.

Mason said that the electric commuter trains which run between Chicago and Milwaukee will not stop this week. He gave no date when service would stop.

An Interstate Commerce Commission ruling permits abandonment of the North Shore line at midnight Thursday.

Three federal judges will begin hearings today to determine whether the ICC has jurisdiction in the matter. Principal objectors to the line's abandonment will have been the Illinois Commerce Commission and the North Shore Commuters Association.

No Decision
Mason said that no decision on an abandonment date could be made until the ruling was made

Business Leader Dies in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — William Edward Levis, 71, a founder and retired president and board chairman of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., was found dead today at Carlton House. Death apparently was due to natural causes.

The industrialist, who made his home at Perrysburg, Ohio, had continued as a director of the Toledo-based company following retirement as board chairman in 1950.

Levis had been staying at Carlton House with his wife. Found slumped on a couch in his apartment about 8 a.m., Levis was pronounced dead by a hotel physician.

and he did not expect a ruling from the judges today.

Meanwhile, the president of the Waukesha Transit Lines, Paul F. Haase, Jr., said his firm will have buses ready to move on Friday, to transport passengers between Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha. But he said he did not think the North Shore would end service for "at least another 20 days."

Two Democratic Senators

For the first time in its history, Wisconsin will now be represented in the United States Senate by two Democrats. This should be a shocking fact to the leadership of the Republican Party in this state. For the blame lies squarely on its shoulders.

This is not to detract from Gaylord Nelson's thumping victory over Alexander Wiley. It is a great personal victory, running as he did considerably ahead of the rest of his party. He has now defeated three prominent Republicans in his successful campaigns for governor and senator.

But we cannot interpret this as meaning that the majority of Wisconsin voters are solidly behind President Kennedy and his Fair Deal liberal policies. Yet this is the way in which the state will now be represented in the U. S. Senate. Contrarywise the state's delegation in the House of Representatives is divided 6 to 4 in favor of the Republicans.

We look upon Nelson's victory as more a personal one over a weak candidate whom the Republican Party could not support with any real enthusiasm. Looking at the record, it is the fact that the Republicans did not put up a candidate who could claim their wholehearted support which contributed to the election of both Democratic Senators.

It is true that the Republicans tried to replace Senator Wiley six years ago when they endorsed Glenn Davis. But they didn't give Davis the support he needed to beat Wiley in the primary. And having failed then, they feared to even try to replace him again this year.

When William Proxmire was running for the late Joseph McCarthy's vacant seat, and again when he ran for the full term, it was the Republicans' failure to unite behind Walter Kohler and Roland Steinle facilitated Proxmire's victories.

A vigorous, alert young Republican might also have been beaten by Nelson the way the election went Tuesday. But the Republicans now must face up to the realization that they may have lost by default because of a lack of political courage. That is a defect which an aspiring political party dares not have.

Wisconsin cannot yet be termed a solid Democratic state, in spite of the astounding advances the party has made in recent years. But if this is to remain a two-party state, Republicans in Wisconsin must seriously reassess their aims and methods. They have a number of strong representatives in Congress and in the state legislature. But in the last few elections they have failed to present winning candidates for the top elective offices.

The next two to four years will be critical for the Republican Party in Wisconsin.

Henry Taylor Writes

Soviet Negotiations on Cuba Are Now Taking Typical Turn

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Premier Castro will be lucky if he doesn't catch an assassin's bullet — and a Russian bullet.

Taylor

But the ring-master sees another possibility. If we weaken our initial demands — even in slightest detail — Khrushchev will use this drunken tiger to stall, exactly as if he could not control him.

Khrushchev's proposal substituting the International Red Cross instead of the U. N. inspection (to which Khrushchev initially agreed) constitutes a typical probe. The Reds want to discover if we will negotiate downhill from our initial strong position. This is an unvarying Soviet tactic I saw the Kremlin employ throughout four years in Geneva.

First Moscow announces something that sounds right and is, in fact, a commitment. But you always have to wait for the bill of particulars. Time and again the details shift the ground, generally on some small point at first. But surrender on that immediate "small point" is the signal the Soviet follows to press for more and more ultimate concessions.

STOOGES DON'T LAST LONG

On the other hand, if Castro really does try to obstruct larger Kremlin policies, he will probably not live long. Death is everywhere in the Sino-Soviet political system, as murdered Premier Nagy found out in Hungary after he served as a Soviet stooge and then changed his mind when the Kremlin double-crossed him.

Treachery men are as unreliable among themselves as with others. But Red leadership is a history of the only type of men qualified for it. Sir Winston Churchill once expressed this idea about a Sudanese tyrant:

"The pasha was vile, but indispensable."

These bad birds flock together in their association with Moscow — the bad birds in China, bloody Ho Chi-minh in Vietnam, Walter Ulbricht in East Germany, Ben Bella in Algeria, Castro in Cuba and all the rest. Their minds and characters are stamped out of the same cookie cutter and they live with the bitter taste of treason in their mouths. Behind every Red political hero stands a traitor. The difficulty is to determine which is which. And behind all Red collaboration stands treachery. It is as inherent in the system as the yolk in an egg.

Inside the Red world, as outside, we are simply seeing communism practicing its perpetual doublecrosses and duplicities which constitute the word "friendship." Real collaboration is not the relationship between the stick and the back that is struck.

Thus what we cannot forget is that we, too, are facing a system, not a man. Moreover, Khrushchev himself merely merchandises his own pet formula. It is to impress the idea that if he gets his way he can be a very satisfactory fellow, but if not, beware, anything can happen.

He repeatedly cashes in on this formula. As one result, the absolutely dominating U. S. policy toward Russia is that Khrushchev, while bad, is not as bad as somebody who could succeed him — although not one official alive in the New Frontier knows who that might be.

That policy was behind President Kennedy's surprising and immediate statement that Khrushchev showed splendid "statesmanship" in agreeing to remove his missile dagger from Cuba to that aggressor had put there to our peril in the first place.

This is like telling a burglar he showed fine citizenship by not shooting you with the gun in his hand after the police burst into the room to grab him. Both personally, and as a part of the Communist system, we are dealing with utter gangland in Khrushchev, exactly as is Castro. The great plus position America achieved by at least acting about Cuba must not be lost by relying on Khrushchev or even allowing him to think we believe we can rely on him.

Khrushchev sees this possibility with the cool, fixed and colorless eyes of a shark. Our most measureless calamity would be to negotiate our initial position downhill or imagine this shark has changed his appetite.

A few short weeks ago a junior citizen of this city was killed at a northside intersection. The car she rode in lost control in turning the corner of Glendale and North Harriman Streets.

Why?? It may have been speed, I am not to judge.

However, I drive that road home every night from work and a messier street cannot be found.

A sewer project was put in this summer which required the street to be cut up. Time was required for the dug area to settle. But since this time the street has been leveled off and a seal coat added and additional stone has been put on Glendale Avenue.

Now may we ask, why the excess gravel at the intersections has not been removed? I am familiar with this route and made my turns at slow speeds because I too have skidded. It seems to me that both the Police Department and Street Departments should watch that such conditions are corrected for the safety of the general public.

Do we have to kill more people before such conditions are corrected?

Largest Cigar Said Crumbling

BUENDE, Germany (AP) — The world's biggest cigar threatens to crumble away.

Carl Paelow, director of the Buende Cigar Museum, says a 26-year-old cigar 5 feet 6 1/2 inches long and 26.378 inches in diameter in the museum is the world's biggest. The cigar's wrapper leaves are slowly coming off. Tobacco inside also is crumbling.

"We hope to be able to repair the damage," Paelow said. "But it will be difficult because the cigar must be taken out of its glass container for the repair job."

And if it's taken out and found necessary to be used up, Paelow said that would be difficult, too. He said:

"It would take you some 600 hours to smoke the big cigar."

State Campaign for Governor Wasn't Very Educational to Voter

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Ideally considered, a political campaign involving a high office such as the governor's should be a contribution to civic education, as well as a struggle for power and a quest for the votes out of which power is built.

Wyngaard

This is written before the election, with the results of the gubernatorial contest not yet known, but it can be said that the educational value of the long and violent campaign debates was considerably less than might have been desired, and perhaps negligible.

Basically, the campaign was fought out on the ideology of taxation. Even that argument was not especially illuminating.

But taking it as it was, it had an aspect of unreality because the candidates and the parties never got around to explaining the reasons why there is a tax issue, and when they did make a nominal effort, it fell far short of the vigor and the violence of the dispute about taxing methods.

The dispute about taxation doesn't make much sense to the voter in the precincts, if he does not know how it arose. Does he know now, after these months of tireless argumentation, that the state faces a financial crisis? It is extremely doubtful.

THE VALUE

It is not important that the individual voter understand these things, it may be said. He will find out quickly enough when the legislature meets and the dimensions of the giant breach between present revenue resources and prospective expenditure demands can no longer be hidden.

Perhaps so. But the fact that the campaign has been fought out on effects, rather than causes, will make the task of the new governor and the new legislature in financing the next budget all the more difficult because of the lack of public understanding of the cruel fiscal realities.

It may very well pose obstacles that would not exist — if first things had been put first during the campaign debates that lasted longer and involved more bitter differences than most in the recent Wisconsin past.

The expenditure programs of the state departments thus far have been published in fragments. It is probably known in a general way that all of them have involved increases. But the impact has not been realized on the whole. The other day the Public Expenditure Survey reckoned, on the basis of past experience and according to current requests, that the new state budget will rise to around $678,000,000.

Assuming the legitimacy of that guess for illustrative purposes, it means that there is a dangerously incomplete understanding of the taxing positions of both parties, as represented in their gubernatorial candidates.

INCOMPLETE

John Reynolds casually and perhaps successfully waved aside all requests to pin down his taxing program by repeating that he stood for income taxes as the best way to raise money. There never was a general realization that given the spending probabilities under a Reynolds administration, the state income tax would be doubled on the typical earner.

Philip Kuehn took some risks, admittedly, by campaigning four-square on the need for a sales tax to avoid income tax levels out of line with the rest of the competitive states. But he eagerly explained that he would avoid a levy, in effect, on lower incomes, through the device of the tax refund, and left the impression that there would be enough money left over to allow some reductions in local property taxation, nevertheless. Yet the chance for any significant residue for such purposes, given the spending demands of the state services, was negligible.

These things should have been transparent. They were not because the candidates put the figurative cart before the horse. They were talking about consequences, when they had not made the causes clear.

Cuba Is Symptom, Not Disease; What's Cure?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Like a dilatory patient who goes to see the doctor six years after the onset of a hacking and chronic cough, the human race is concerned only with symptoms and not with diseases, only with cures and not with prevention. We are now looking for a pill to cure our cosmic cancer.

Harris

"What can we do about Cuba?" asks the worried citizen — and there simply is no satisfactory answer any more. Six years ago, or more, when the corrupt and repressive Batista government was ruining the country, we asked no questions about Cuba.

When it was perfectly evident that Hitler was about to overrun all of Europe, we asked "What can we do about the Nazis?" The only answers were war or surrender; the disease had progressed too far and too fast.

Nobody was much concerned about Germany in the years between the Armistice of the First World War and the Depression — years when the Nazis were making the most out of Germany's impoverished condition.

Likewise, by the time the Bolsheviks took over Russia in 1918, it was already too late for the world to do anything but fight or accede to it.

Preventive medicine has grown enormously in the last few decades; but there still is no preventive statesmanship, no inoculation against the virus of war and tyranny and revolution.

We supported, both actively and passively, Batista's rotten administration in Cuba. Anyone with a grain of political sense could have foreseen that the pendulum would some day swing to the other extreme — that a Castro is the logical outgrowth of a Batista, as the terrible excesses of the French Revolution followed the excesses of the French monarchy.

In physics, every schoolboy knows that "action and reaction are equal." The same is true in the political life of mankind. The repressive Czarism was followed by the even more repressive Bolshevism; indeed, no nation with a history of democracy has ever voluntarily become totalitarian. Both communism and fascism have succeeded only where liberty had never been known before.

Cuba is a symptom, not a disease; Berlin is a symptom, not a disease; Korea and Vietnam and a half-dozen others are all symptoms and not diseases. And there is little that one can do about a symptom while the disease persists.

They are all symptoms of the world's neglect, its indifference, its narrow self-interest, its unwillingness to face the obvious fact that preventive statesmanship is the only way to keep the peace. Whatever we "do" about Cuba today will be wrong.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

A big question for history is whether Khrushchev dismantled as many missiles in Cuba as he did candidates in the American election.

Japan is making miniature TV sets. Looking at the world today, the Japanese decided it's a waste of time trying to get the big picture.

Our Cuban blockade is so tight, there's some doubt Khrushchev will ever manage to get all his missiles out.

A woman will never be first on the moon. She wouldn't have a thing on earth to wear.

President Kennedy builds a week-end home in the Virginia fox-hunt country. No chance of losing money. If he doesn't win in '64, think of what he could soak Rockefeller for it.

Indonesia Has Trouble

It must have been quite an anticlimax for Sukarno and many of the other Indonesian leaders when the Dutch left West New Guinea without a major skirmish. Indonesia's entire faltering economy has been aimed at the taking of what is now called West Irian. The campaign was used to bolster Indonesian nationalism to the pitch it had when they were actually fighting with the Dutch for independence a decade ago. But the health of the nation's economy has suffered. What will Indonesia do now?

During the last year, observers have estimated that between a half and three-fourths of Indonesia's budget went to the military. Soviet aircraft and ships were purchased to put Indonesia in considerable debt to Russia. The income from petroleum and rubber has been mortgaged for years to come. The available leadership of the country was also mobilized to take over West Irian. Reportedly rice riots on the docks while there is considerable hunger among the nation's peasants.

In addition to providing its own people with some of the necessities of life or the ability to get them, the Indonesian government faces some sort of program for the hundred thousand Papuans living on West Irian, most of whom never heard of Sukarno or Indonesia. If the plebiscite, scheduled before 1969, is to go in favor of Indonesia, there will have to be considerable indoctrination and aid. The Dutch had barely penetrated the vast interior jungle of West Irian.

But the matter of national prestige remains extremely important to the leaders of some of the newly independent nations. Ghana is one where international pomp and ceremony come ahead of food, medicine and clothing for the people. Sukarno has long posed as a leader of the non-aligned nations, apparently pleased with the picture of a man who can talk to Communists and Democrats alike without too much antagonism. But the Communists are strong in Indonesia and they back the national policy of world reputation at the expense of the Indonesians. The only force that is strongly in opposition to the Communists and in any position to hold them down is the army and its leaders are not likely to vote themselves out of existence.

Perhaps Indonesia's military strength is enough to discourage outside attack from admittedly Communist nations. But with a sick economy at home and growing responsibilities at the edges of its vast water and island lands, Indonesia could also become ripe for a home-grown coup by the well-situated Reds.

The lure of trappings and prestige did not die with the old colonial system. Indonesia may be on the verge of economic collapse because the disease lingers on in perhaps an even more virulent form.

Progress May be Uncomfortable

People often are heard to say "I hope that Appleton doesn't get any larger because it now is such a nice, comfortable city to live in." This attitude has no standing whatever in the vicinity of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and it is doubtful if people could keep the city from changing if they made a real effort to do so. But there are areas where growth is stifled because people do not want to change.

Take for example the Island of Sark which is not far from the Island of Guernsey in the English Channel. The people of Sark have outlawed automobiles on the island so that the peaceful existence of the 556 residents will not be disturbed. The only motor driven vehicles permitted on the roads are slow moving tractors and an electric invalid carriage for the island's ruler, the Dame of Sark, Mrs. Sibyl Hathaway. She is suffering from arthritis.

Recently, however, the people of Sark purchased an ambulance for 50 pounds or approximately $140 from the Island of Guernsey. But when the modern ambulance arrives on Sark, its engine and front wheels will be removed. The remainder will be hitched behind a tractor for regular duty. For many years now the members of Sark's parliament have known that their old tractor drawn ambulance was out of date. Thus when Guernsey offered a vehicle from its own fleet they jumped at the chance to buy it. Now they are having a disturbing argument over it.

Some people are asking, "What is the point of providing up-to-date equipment and then antequating it?" They are paying only 50 pounds for the ambulance but they are going to spend three times that amount in dismantling it and as the opponents point out when the motor is gone so, too, is the heating and the lighting. One would think that with such powerful arguments for progress there would be a chance to win but the report is that this opposition is almost certain to be outvoted. As one of the members of parliament put it, "We want to keep Sark the way it is. This is the way we like it."

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Nov. 13, 1862.

It will be seen that Outagamie County has voted "blind" for the Democratic ticket. We lose everything but Clerk of Court, to our astonishment and chagrin.

No doubt a majority of Union War men are in the field from this county, few, if any, of whom voted at all.

But without making the least word of complaint, we are compelled to believe that the blow that really killed us, in spite of our most desperate exertions, came from the Congressional Convention of our own friends. Unquestionably they intended well, but "hell is paved with good intentions." Blunderheadedness is a great misfortune in any situation. In politics it borders on crime.

Fiorello H. LaGuardia was re-lected mayor of New York in a sweeping victory that carried most of his ticket to victory.

Thomas E. Dewey, special rack-ets prosecutor, was elected district attorney of New York County. In Detroit, Mich., the CIO in its first bid for direct political power lost the mayor's race to Richard W. Reading, an unaffiliated candidate with AFL support.

The committee in charge of the annual Fall Festival of Father Fitzmaurice Council, Knights of Columbus, included Walter Fountain, Sylvester Timmers, Mrs. W. A. Liese and Mrs. J. I. Monaghan.

Roy Babcock, Neenah, discussed his Wyoming hunting trip at a Neenah Lions Club meeting.

Babcock and his father bagged a 700-pound grizzly bear, a 500-pound black bear, two elk, a deer and a cub on the trip that included a 35-mile ride on horseback over mountain passes blocked with snow to reach their hunting ground.

Gen. Eisenhower won the presidency that day with the greatest popular vote ever given a candidate and his landslide swept the Republicans into thin-edged control of the new congress.

Outagamie County also helped reelect Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr. by the greatest vote ever given to a Wisconsin chief executive.

Republican Lyman B. Clark, undersheriff, was elected to the sheriff's post by a 2,416 margin over County Policeman Donald Heinrich, who ran as an independent after losing out in the primary.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was returned to office for another six-year term as Wisconsin voters gave him a 141,000 margin over Thomas E. Fairchild, Democratic candidate.

Officer Salaries In State Cities Conservative

Check Ranges From
$7,600 to $15,000

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Municipal service budgets are swelling, but officer salaries in most Wisconsin cities continue to be managed on a conservative basis, according to results of a salary survey made by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

The League found that in the cities of more than 10,000 population, mayors employed on a part-time basis in 17 communities have an annual salary of $4,218.

The average salary of full-time mayors in 15 cities was put at $10,242, with a range of $7,600 to $15,000. In seven municipalities, the city or village manager receives an average of $13,737 yearly, with a range of $9,500 to $15,800.

Moderate Policy

The moderate salary policy is evident in other salary averages and ranges.

Seven with managers pay councilmen or trustees an annual salary of $585, with a range of $200 to $1,200. One city does not pay councilmen.

In cities with a mayor, excluding those of Milwaukee county, aldermen receive an average of $886 a year, with a range of $300 to $1,800 and in seven Milwaukee county municipalities excluding the city of Milwaukee, the average salary is $2,177.

With a range of $4,200 to $11,500, 39 municipalities pay assessors an average salary of $7,237, and attorneys an average of $7,681. The range for attorneys is broad, from $3,000 to $13,800.

Not Enough Voters Check on Issues

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Who, in all candor, can really get any satisfaction out of the congressional election just held?

For the expression "the will of the people" sounds hypocritical when the vast majority of the voters in so many districts and states are to a large extent uninformed on the issues and on the ability of the candidate in each case to deal with those issues.

Unfortunately, the political machines and the pressure groups control much of the voting. They broadcast their prejudices and their emotional appeals, and too many of the voters blindly follow.

As the population grows in America, the situation is likely to be even more confused and unsatisfactory. For the true "will of the people" cannot be obtained if the major influence is exerted by organized pressure groups and if there are inadequate methods of enabling the voters to distinguish between partisan claims and the truth.

In district after district where tens of thousands of citizens vote, the capacity or ability of the candidate to fill the office for which he is running is not known by a large number of the voters. Many of the voters have never seen or heard of the candidate before the campaign begins. Then they listen to appeals made on radio or television or they read newspaper ads extolling a particular candidate. But they have no adequate means of checking up on the merits of that same candidate.

It is often said that "the people are not interested." It is also said that, if things are going well, the people will tend to vote for the incumbent and that, if things are going badly, they will do the opposite. Much stress is laid on the fact that "pocketbook" issues are often controlling in an election. But basically a large part of the electorate is either indifferent or uninformed.

Can Be Remedied

Today, for instance a majority of the House of Representatives, together with a majority of the Senate, can decide how much money shall be spent and what taxes shall be levied. The amazing thing is that "spending" is popular even when it goes beyond the receipts from taxes each year. Too many congressional seats are won by candidates who promise to get certain financial benefits for their respective districts. The New York "Herald Tribune" on Tuesday pointed out in an editorial a conspicuous case of this kind. It said:

"The most disgraceful aspect of Edward Kennedy's battle for the senate is his promise that he can get more for Massachusetts, from Washington, than his Republican opponent, George Cabot Lodge. 'The I can get it for you whole-sale' approach, and similar forms, of appealing to selfish instincts, is an ancient form of campaigning. But that doesn't make it any more honorable, and in the case of the ambitious Ted Kennedy it is especially poor taste. He may be right about getting more, what with the Kennedy beachhead so well established in Washington polls but it is still not a particularly elevating form of electioneering. And it says little for the young candidate's sense of statesmanship."

Used Tactics

President Kennedy himself used the same kind of tactics in the current campaign when, in state after state, he plainly implied that, under his administration, Democrats in Congress would fare better than Republicans at the hands of the executive branch of the government in the award of defense contracts and other forms of favoritism.

It seems strange that there has been so little resentment expressed publicly at this form of campaigning. It seems to be taken for granted that a good representative in Congress is one who "gets things for his district."

In the case of both senators and representative, the pressure groups brazenly reward the members who do their bidding in congress. This is handed out in the form of campaign contributions as well as by furnishing precinct workers "to line up the vote."

The tendency nowadays is to pass off these types of campaigning as normal or as perhaps not really widespread, but the fact is that they are growing in scope all the time. Indeed, it may be questioned in how many congressional districts it can be proved that the majority of the voters exercised their right to an independent ballot and were not influenced by professional workers who over-emphasized or distorted certain issues.

The system in vogue today is hardly one to warrant characterization as either wholly honest or as conducive to the development of a majority in each district or state which will really exercise independent judgment at the polls.

Arteriosclerosis Is One Of Our Deadliest Enemies

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M. D.

Hardening of the arteries — or, the condition known as arteriosclerosis — is often described as loss of blood vessel elasticity, on one of our deadliest enemies.

And the reasons are certainly obvious — what with slightly by ruptures or hemorrhages in more than one-third of all U S deaths today being caused by arteriosclerosis and hypertension must first learn that the disease. Last year arteriosclerosis combined with arteriosclerotic heart disease (including coronary disease) took a total of 12,396 lives consist of following a schedule of moderation in all activities, taking frequent rest periods, and avoiding exertion in cold weather.

At the same time many people have the disease without even knowing it or suffering any disability. It occurs, in fact, to a varying extent in most people over 50.

Hardening of the arteries is the condition in which blood vessel walls thicken and become less elastic as they are infiltrated with excessive mineral and fatty deposits. One of these is cholesterol — a substance receiving increasing attention as a possible factor in many arteriosclerosis cases.

Narrow Vessels. Oftentimes these deposits narrow or constrict the blood vessels to the point where they reduce or prevent the normal flow of blood must face.

through them. This frequently causes blood clots which result in heart attacks or strokes. A sclerotic — is often described as loss of blood vessel elasticity, on the other hand, serves as a contributing factor in strokes caused by ruptures or hemorrhages in the brain. To combat arteriosclerosis we must first learn that the disease must first learn that the disease. Last year arteriosclerosis combined with arteriosclerotic heart disease (including coronary disease) took a total of 12,396 lives consist of following a schedule of moderation in all activities, taking frequent rest periods, and avoiding exertion in cold weather. Or it may only involve following a low-fat, low-calorie diet. Research Gives Hope. Recent and current research meanwhile is providing hope for condition in which blood vessel improved treatment and possible preventive measures. Until these are available, we can still do much to prevent many of the complications of hardening of the arteries. One measure that is important is to see that persons over 50 have a regular checkup so that the disorder and its complications can be found and treated early. This is the challenge all of us must face.

State Prison Now a Thriving Industry

Waupun Institution Compares In Volume With Large Companies

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Behind the gray stone walls of the state penitentiary at Waupun, the state during recent years has developed a diversified manufacturing industry that compares in gross volume with some of the substantial industrial firms in the general economy.
During the last 15 years the dollar value of state prison factory production has more than tripled, according to John Burke, Waupun warden, reporting on output for the last fiscal year.
The total amounted to $1,675,000. Prison officials, with the support of the state division of corrections, are studying opportunities for expansion of existing production lines, and the devising of new industrial employment opportunities for institution inmates in expectation of a continued growth in the adult male population of prisoners committed to state corrections facilities.
Opportunities Limited
Opportunities for diversification and expansion are limited by law. The state does not permit the prison to compete in the open market with taxpaying private manufacturers employing free labor. Prison product sales are limited to tax supported agencies, in state and local government. But such markets have expanded gradually. The state welfare department, for example, has furnished most of its new buildings recently with office and other furniture produced in the Waupun prison furniture factory. The prison clothing factory also produces a larger share of clothing for the inmates of all welfare institutions. The highway department is a buyer of road signs in huge volume, and the motor vehicle department orders auto and truck registration plates from the prison.
The metal industry at Waupun accounts for the largest sales, now running nearly a million dollars a year. Other industries produce printing and binding, paint and shoes. There also is a laundry and machine shop.
Some of the principal manufacturing lines will be shifted to the new medium security prison at Fox Lake, upon the completion of an industrial building there that is now under construction. The prison industrial enterprise, says Warden Burke, "is a very important and integral part of our program, providing our men with productive occupations and teaching good work habits."

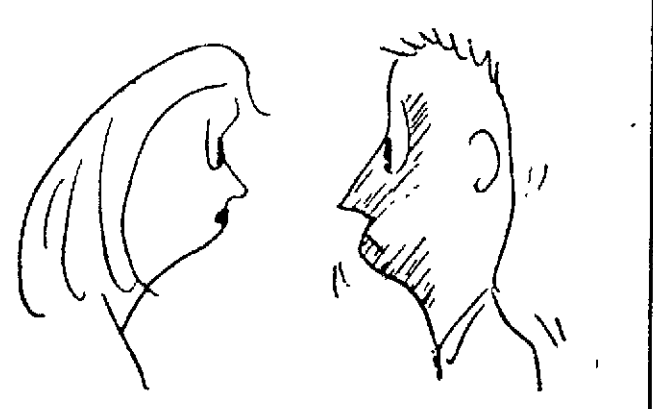

Unions Will Seek Pension Rights at '63 Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — General public employee unions will drive for substantially liberalized pension rights when the 1963 legislature meets.
The Wisconsin Council of Municipal Employee Unions, which has expanded its membership in recent years, has called a conference here for early December to evolve legislative demands, highlighted by a proposal to guarantee pension benefits of at least half of regular salary for employees of the state and local governments who retire after 35 years.
State and local government work workers are enrolled in the Wisconsin Retirement Fund, established about 17 years ago, and financed through contributions from wages and by the governmental employee units.
The Council's periodical said the effects of inflation since the present pension rules were written have cut down benefit rights drastically, and some workers are now retiring with combined social security and annuity income of less than a third of their final earnings.
The state retirement fund covers most governmental service workers in the state, but teachers have a separate retirement program, and older members of fire and police departments also have separate benefit rights.
The Council commented here that "when the Wisconsin retirement system was adopted, it was assumed that there would be no inflation. Had there been no inflation, those employees with 30 to 35 years of service and retiring at age 65 would in almost all cases receive halfpay or more. This approaches a reasonable pension."

Reynolds Wins But Recount Move Seen

thor held office as active governor for four days, until Bashford formally assumed his duties.

Acting Gov. MacArthur was the grandfather of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

Reynolds' election also, of course, marks the first time the state has given Democrats three straight gubernatorial majorities.

Other Republicans

Reynolds was the only winner on the Democratic state ticket.

State Treasurer — Mrs. Dena Smith, R, 663,427; John Schneider Jr., D, 536,912.

Kuehn carried 46 of the state's 72 counties to 26 for Reynolds.

Although each candidate presented detailed program papers on various proposals to revamp state government during the campaign, both parties agreed that the vote for governor would constitute as well a "referendum" on state tax policies for the next few years—whether revenue should come substantially from a general sales tax, or from increased income taxes.

No Mandate

The results constituted something less than a mandate. Additionally, the Senate was safely in Republican hands regardless of this year's election, and the GOP maintained a narrow grip on the Assembly.

Thus the future remained clouded. Reynolds has reiterated many times that he not only would veto any general sales tax bill, but successfully insisted that his party platform include a plank demanding repeal of the selective sales tax compromise worked out between Gov. Gaylord Nelson and the Republican-controlled Legislature during the last session.

In 1960, when Kuehn— former Republican state chairman—made his first bid for public office, against Nelson, he trailed the governor by 81,000 in Milwaukee County but ran strongly in the state to narrow the margin of loss to some 53,000. He is president of a Milwaukee cold storage firm.

Issue Decided By Plurality In Milwaukee

vote of general dissatisfaction with the Kennedy administration, Nelson said, "I honestly don't know."

Cool Toward Kennedy

Nelson was not an early supporter of President John F. Kennedy's candidacy during the hectic days of the 1960 presidential primary, and won his second term while Wisconsin was giving its electoral votes to Richard M. Nixon. And while a number of administration leaders, including Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, came to Wisconsin to campaign for Reynolds, the President's endorsement of Nelson was limited to a letter released last week.

For Nelson, a 46-year-old attorney who was a 10-year veteran of the State Senate when elected to his first term in 1958, the decision over Wiley was another personal success.

He had led his party to a landslide victory four years ago, he held his place in 1960 to become the second Democrat in history to win reelection as governor—the first was "Peck's Bad Boy" author George Peck in the 1890s—and with a GOP-controlled Legislature managed not only tax revision but a model natural resources program.

4 Party Senators

His election makes him the fourth Democrat to win since Wisconsin began electing senators by popular vote 50 years ago, and means that for the first time in history the state will have two Democratic Senators. The new senior Senator is William Proxmire, who first won office in 1957 as successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

For the 78-year-old Wiley, defeat marked the likely end of a political career that had seen him serve three terms as district attorney of his native Chippewa County before Nelson was born, in the same rugged northern country and of similar pioneer Norwegian stock.

Wiley's First Election

First elected to the Senate in 1938, Wiley became chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee under the Eisenhower Administration and from a pre-war isolationist developed into a leader of bi-partisan foreign policy.

Teen-Agers Reduce Court Appearances

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The number of teen-age violators appearing in Municipal Court has been reduced by more than 50 percent since last summer, Judge John E. Santora Jr. reported.

"I attribute that solely to the teen-age jury," Santora told a civic club Monday.

He has a panel of six youths who serve as an advisory jury to him in cases involving teen-agers. They are members of the Youth Council on Civic Affairs.

Santora said youths appearing before his court dislike the idea of being tried by teen-agers. He said one youthful offender objected, saying he could fool the judge but not the teen-agers.

were beaten. They were Russell Olson, a staunch conservative from Bassett; Marvin E. Babbitt of Seymour, and Paul Luedtke of Wausau, who met defeat in his try for an 11th term.

Rough Road Ahead

The difficulties that can be expected for Reynolds can be illustrated in both houses. Sen. Jerry Leonard, R-Milwaukee, a chairman of the Kuehn campaign, is the best bet for Senate majority floorleader.

In the Assembly, solid Kuehn men such as Glen Pommerening of Wauwatosa, Robert Haase of Marinette, Curtis McKay of Ozauc, and Thomas Barland of Eau Claire are expected to play a big part in the organization and work of that house during the 1963 session.

Voters Okay 4 Referenda In Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Wisconsin electorate approved referendum question and a constitutional amendment by large margins Tuesday, but victory a second amendment giving the Milwaukee County executive greater power was by a narrower margin.

All three questions took a back seat to the spirited races for Wisconsin's elective offices.

The most controversial amendment extends to the Milwaukee County executive the power to veto resolutions and ordinances passed by the county board.

The issue was presented to voters in two separate questions. One question changed the Constitution to permit the Legislature to give the executive certain "administrative powers" and the second question granted the veto authority.

The veto power proposal applies only to Milwaukee County since a county executive is authorized only for counties with a population of 500,000 or more. John Doyle is the Milwaukee County executive.

Yes votes on the first question totaled 479,854 to 289,652 no votes. On the second question there were 480,532 yes votes to 280,212 in opposition.

Madison, Martin J. Schreiber of Milwaukee, Eugene Kaufman of Manitowoc and Frank Christopherson of Superior. Schmidt, Riss, On the Democratic side, new senator and Christopherson resigned senators will be Charles Schmidt of Milwaukee, Fred Riss of Superior, and

Spice Wins Sheriff Job From Heinritz

Freedom (294-111) and Hortonville (170-96) to offset Heinritz support in the town of Dale (120-53) and town of Seymour (138-67). Spice had a 407-vote lead when the last remaining precinct from the Town of Ellington reported with 95 votes for Spice, 82 for Heinritz and 101 for Else.

Strong Support

Else, who had failed to gain the Republican endorsement in the September primary, apparently pulled enough Heinritz votes to enable his fellow traffic policeman, Spice, to win the sheriff's job. Else never ran ahead but received strong support in Appleton's wards where he pulled 3,698 votes. He received 2,323 votes from the county's other 36 precincts.

At a victory celebration at the VFW Clubhouse in Kaukauna, which began before the final tabulation was in Spice said when Mrs. Elizabeth Christensen, Appleton, informed of his victory. "I hope I can repay the people of Outagamie County by doing the type of job they deserve."

any help needed when he took over the sheriff's job Jan. 7, 1963.

GOP Discouraged

Some Republicans were openly discouraged by the strong showing the Democrats made.

Spice's victory also brought to a close control of the office by the Heinritz brothers which began in 1954 when Donald Heinritz was elected sheriff. He was re-elected in 1956. His brother, incumbent Sheriff Robert Heinritz, was elected in 1958 and appointed Donald his undersheriff. Robert was re-elected in 1960 and could not seek a re-election because of state law which limits the sheriff job to two consecutive terms.

Incumbent Republican Register of Deeds Stephen M. Peeters again led the county GOP ticket with a 20,906 to 7,894 win over challenger, Democrat Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky.

Other Winners

In other contests, County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer was granted her third term with a 19,580 to 9,010 win over Kaukauna Democrat newcomer John A. Brown; Bernard H. Kemps easily won his seventh term as county coroner with a 20,105 to 8,319 vote victory over Donald Fredrickson, an Appleton Democrat; Sydney M. Shannon easily disposed of Democrat

Mrs. Elizabeth Christensen, Appleton, for clerk of court, 19,333 to 8,687; and incumbent surveyor Frank M. Charlesworth polled 19,653 votes to Democrat Peter Akmentments 8,404.

Schaefer, in winning his second term as district attorney, received 20,657 votes and Bentz began his third term as county treasurer with 19,653 votes.

State Voters End Career of Senator Wiley

Fox Cities Electors Back Republican by 17,000 Majority

Wisconsin voters ended the long and colorful political career of Sen. Alexander Wiley in Tuesday's election, but voters in the five-county Fox Cities area stubbornly supported the GOP veteran.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson's popularity was enough to carry the state by 646,832 votes to 583,258 for Wiley, in nearly complete returns, but the GOP veteran held a 54,219 to 37,081 margin in the Fox Cities area.

Voters in the area gave a few more votes to Wiley than they did to Philip Kuehn, the losing GOP candidate for governor. Kuehn polled only 54,114 votes in Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet, Waupaca and Shawano counties.

Outagamie County gave Wiley 17,123 votes to 12,392 for Nelson. Wiley's plurality over the governor was similar in the other four counties.

In Winnebago County, it was Wiley 19,275, Nelson 14,221; in Calumet County, Wiley 4,023, Nelson 2,712; in Waupaca County, Wiley 7,638, Nelson 3,830; and in Shawano County, Wiley 6,150, Nelson 3,926.

Wiley captured 43 of the 56 precincts in Outagamie County, including all but one in Appleton. The lone Nelson supporter in Appleton was the First Precinct of the Ninth Ward.

South Dakota Elects Democratic Senator

SIoux FALLS, S. D. (AP) — George McGovern, President Kennedy's former Food-For-Peace director, was elected South Dakota's first Democratic senator in 24 years, defeating Joe Bottom, Republican incumbent, in a close contest.

McGovern held a very thin lead over Bottom throughout the night and gained a small but decisive edge today.

Democrats Retain Congress Control

A Democrat unseated Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, keynote of the 1960 Republican National Convention.

The cross currents of voting seemed likely to give President Kennedy greater Senate support of his programs. But the possible dead heat between the two parties—or a small Republican gain—did not promise to ease his problems with a House that balked at many of his major proposals.

Other Major Races

In Michigan, Romney, the former compact car maker, cut into the traditional Democratic stronghold on industrial Wayne County to knock Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson out of office.

In Ohio, State Auditor James A. Rhodes ploughed under Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Robert Taft Jr. brought a famous name back to politics by winning a congress at-large race. Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche, by taking GOP governorships in Michigan, Wyoming, Colorado and Oklahoma, Democrats retaliated against GOP governorships in New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Iowa and Hawaii. In five undecided races, Democrats led in two, Republicans in three.

In Nebraska, Democratic Gov. Frank B. Morrison defeated Republican Fred A. Seaton, who served as secretary of the interior in the Cabinet of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Minnesota, Democrat Earl F. Rolvaag held a lead over Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. Democrats knocked off veteran GOP Sen. Alexander Wiley in Wisconsin. They elected a governor in Iowa.

Rockefeller propelled himself into the front rank of contenders for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination by winning a second term. But his margin over his Democratic opponent, Robert M. Morgenthau, seemed likely to be less than the 573,000 bulge by which Rockefeller won in 1958.

GOP Sen. Jacob K. Javits ran ahead of Rockefeller on the basis of a strong showing in New York City.

On the other side of the continent, GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York led a re-election parade of Republicans who wrested governors' offices from the Democrats in the politically potent industrial states of Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio.

These, with New York, offer a Republican launching pad for the 1964 presidential contest with 119 of the 268 electoral votes needed for victory.

With his second-term victory, Rockefeller went to the head of the class of potential GOP nominees to oppose Kennedy in 1964.

But a couple of newcomers also were possible enrollees—Govs.-elect George Romney of Michigan and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Exchange of Jobs

Democrats and Republicans traded governors' jobs at a furious pace. Republicans engineered overturns in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wyoming, Colorado and Oklahoma. Democrats retaliated by taking GOP governorships in New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Iowa and Hawaii. In five undecided races, Democrats led in two, Republicans in three.

Ellington Slowest to Report Vote

The Town of Ellington reclaimed the dubious title of being the last precinct in Outagamie County to report election returns Tuesday. The town's vote came in at 1:05 a.m. Wednesday.

First to report was Appleton's Sixth Ward, which had its returns in at 8:18 p.m. Tuesday — only 16 minutes after the polls closed.

Running a close second was the Town of Bovina, which reported in at 8:19 p.m.

All of Appleton's precincts had reported by 9:45 p.m.

Other latecomers were the Town of Seymour, which came in at 12:40 a.m. and the Village of Hortonville, which called in its returns at 12:45 a.m.

Van Pelt Did Better

Van Pelt, also, did better than in 1960 when he defeated James H. Hoff to the governorship of Vermont. It was the first time in a Fond du Lac labor leader, polled 48,938 votes to Van Pelt's 71,294.

Three other Republican and four Democratic incumbents were re-elected in the state's seven other congressional races.

Monfils failed to capture a majority in any of the Eighth District's nine counties. The county vote was:

Outagamie — Byrnes 19,823, Monfils 8,907.

Brown — Byrnes 24,326, Monfils 13,929.

Door — Byrnes 5,440, Monfils 1,919.

Svare Takes Over As Head Coach of Los Angeles Rams

Waterfield Quits With 2½ Years
Remaining on His Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harland Svare, one of countless Los Angeles Ram players traded away, took over the Ram coaching duties today and dedicated himself to improvement of the National Football League team.

"We've simply got to find a way to move the ball," Svare said at a news conference called after Bob Waterfield quit with 2½ years to go on his 5-year contract.

The Rams have a 1-7 record in the NFL and their home attendance has dwindled to the point where the colleges are out-drawing them.

Svare, at 32 the youngest head coach in the league, was asked if he thought he could improve the play of the Rams.

"I wouldn't have taken the job if I didn't think I could," was his prompt reply.

Amplifies Remark

But Ram General Manager Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch amplified the remark by saying that a turnaround was hard to envisage with the toughest part of the Los Angeles schedule coming up.

Hirsch said that Waterfield, dependent over the failure of his

Detroit Takes No. 1 Defense Spot From Bays

Packers Trailing
Lions by Only
24-Yard Margin

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, showing the balance which has carried them to eight straight victories, held the No. 2 position in the National Football League's offensive rushing and defensive statistics released today.

For the third week in a row the defending NFL champions remained second to the Dallas Cowboys in offensive yardage totals. Coach Tom Landry's Cowboys have gained 2,999 yards to the Packers 2,840. The New York Giants are third with 2,758 yards.

The Detroit Lions are only 24 yards ahead of the Packers in topping the defensive statistics. Detroit took over the top spot after allowing Los Angeles only 33 yards rushing last Sunday and have allowed a total of 1,668 yards. The Packers have yielded 1,602.

Minnesota Vikes Activate Smith to Replace Bob Reed

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings reactivated offensive end Gordie Smith, placed injured halfback Bob Reed on the injured reserve list.

Smith, the starting right end, until injured late in the exhibition portion of the season, could return to that slot for Sunday's game at Chicago.

Reed, a speedy rookie from University of Pacific, sustained a chest injury at Los Angeles three weeks ago and has not responded to treatment.

Packers Won Only 37 Games in 11-Year Famine Before Lombardi

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Does anybody in the house remember the late 11-year Packers famine?

During this nightmare the Packers won only 37 league games — an average of 3-plus per season.

Those 37 victories are close to 1½ matched — in less than four years.

Since Vince Lombardi took over the Packer fortunes in the early winter of 1959, the Packers have scored 34 league triumphs—seven in 1959, eight in 1960, 11 in 1961 and eight this far in 1962.

The Lombardi total doesn't include the gravy, which includes two appearances and a 1-1 record in championship playoffs.

During the famine, the Packers lost 93 and tied 2. The invincibles have lost one dozen — five in '59, four in '60, three in '61 and none thus far in '62. No ties!

What brought this on — what with a victory over the Bears just two days removed and a visit to Philadelphia up next?

This occurred to us when Lombardi, asked how the Packers looked in the movies, responded with no hesitation: "We played a good over-all game."

It's no secret that Lombardi is a perfectionist.

Yet, for three straight weeks now, Vince has been able to report — after close inspection of the films — that the Packers were good, tremendous, etc.

Lombardi doesn't pass out compliments wildly. There have been two appearances and a 1-1 record in championship playoffs.

During the famine, the Packers lost 93 and tied 2. The invincibles have lost one dozen — five

Pass-Minded Carleton Next Foe for Vikings

The Lawrence College football team will travel to Northfield, Minn., for a battle with a passing-minded Carleton Saturday.

The Vikings are now 5-2 after the startlingly easy 28-8 conquest of Coe last week. Only Grinnell (6-0-1) and Ripon (5-1-1) rank ahead of the Vikes. A win would assure the Vikes of at least third place.

Lawrence came through the Coe game in good physical condition. Carey Wickland and Paul Cromhecke will still be out of action Saturday; but the rest of the squad is intact.

Coach Heselson was "most pleased" with the Coe performance. And he had good reason. The Vikings, going into the game as the underdogs, unleashed a swift striking offense and a rock defense which completely stopped the league's best rushing team.

It was another great team effort which carried the Vikings to the top in the Coe game. Even the outstanding individual performances of senior quarterback Gary Just and senior fullback

Taylor Can Become Green Bay's All-Time Ground Leader Sunday

Workhorse Fullback
Needs 155 Yards
Against Philadelphia

GREEN BAY (AP) — Packer fullback Jim Taylor who turned in one of his greatest games last Sunday will have several good reasons to give an extra effort again this week against the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 215 pound workhorse needs 155 yards to become Green Bay's all-time ground gaming leader.

But there is another reason which to Taylor probably is more pertinent. It was Chuck Bednarik's crushing tackle of Taylor on the final play in the championship game two years ago against the Eagles which ended the Packers' title hopes.

The Packers have come a long way since that 17-13 beating by the Eagles. Green Bay has won eight straight this season and are defending champions in the National Football league.

Philadelphia has had a dismal season, managing only one victory while losing six times and tying Cleveland last Sunday 14-14.

The Packers are off to their best start in 21 years. In 1941 the Green Bay lost its third game of the season to the Bears, then won eight in a row only to lose to the Bears in the divisional play-off. After Green Bay whipped Chicago for the fourth straight time this season Bear coach George Halas said "the Packers defy the averages."

He said because of their great power they are the only team in the NFL that runs the ball 60 per cent of the time and passes 40 per cent.

Halas added, "that was the average 20 years ago but today the other teams in the league average 63 per cent passing and 47 per cent running."

Packer linebacker Dan Currie had a quick answer to the question "What's it like to play a fired up opponent game after game?"

Currie remarked, "they all start out like savages against us, but we just have to cool off a hot club."

Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung who has missed the last three games with a leg injury probably will see action Sunday. Hornung was in uniform last Sunday but did not play. His halfback spot has been admirably filled by Tom Moore.

Eagles Acquire John Kapele for Defensive Work

The Eagles Tuesday signed Kapele, one of three players cut by the Pittsburgh Steelers last week. To make room for the 6-foot, 240-pound defensive end tackle, the Eagles released on waivers Don Oakes, a second-year offensive and defensive tackle.

Tall Russians Set to Meet U. S. Thursday

Soviet Women Will Meet AAU Champions

NEW YORK (AP)—The Russians will be seeking their first victory over an American national team in basketball Thursday night when a Soviet squad meets the U.S. All-Stars at Madison Square Garden.

In the first game of the double-header, played under international basketball rules, a Russian girls' team will meet the Nashville Business College team. National AAU women's champions.

The Russians, led by Viktor Zubkov, a 6-8 center from Moscow, have scheduled an 8-game tour that will take them to Maryland, South Dakota, Iowa, Texas and Colorado. The team is rated stronger than the one which lost to the USA 81-57 in Rome in 1960 for the Olympic title.

Most imposing is Anzor Lezavam, a 6-11, 250-pounder from Thilisi. Other highly rated players are 6-11 Vasily Okonjak and 6-10 Alexander Petrov.

Three Americans who made the tour of Russia last spring are on the present team. They are Gary Thompson of Iowa State, Mike Moran of Marquette and Jerry Shipp of Southeast Oklahoma State.

Others on the team include Lloyd Sharrar, 6-10 center from West Virginia; Bobby Rascoe, Western Kentucky State, Larry Pursifull, Kentucky; Don Kojis, Marquette; and Pete McCaffrey, St. Louis University.

Proposal That Musial Retire Sets Off Feud

Rickey, Devine In Disagreement; Stan Says He'll Play

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial said today he planned to play next season despite Branch Rickey's proposal to St. Louis Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine that the great outfielder retire.

The proposal apparently set off a major disagreement between Devine and Rickey, who was hired recently as a senior consultant on player development for the Cardinals.

Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr. said Tuesday Musial not only would play with the Cardinals in 1963 but would become a club vice president when he decides to retire.

"We need Stan's bat. He'll let us know when he's ready to quit. You just don't cast someone aside who figures as a vice president in your future plans," Busch said.

Then Busch added, "since when do you ask a 330 hitter to retire unless you've got his equal to replace him."

Musial in Florida

Musial is in St. Petersburg, Fla., with the Cardinals helping in the instruction league there for young ball players.

When he learned of the Rickey proposal to retire him, Musial declared, "I won't retire. If the Cardinals don't want me there are some other clubs that do."

"That (the retirement proposal) is hard to believe because both Bing and Johnny Keane said they are counting on me," Musial said. Keane is the Cardinals' field manager.

Rickey said in New York he had suggested Musial, who will be 42 this month, retire in a discussion with Keane and Devine.

"I have changed my mind on Keane's and Devine's advice," Rickey said.

Still Rickey explained, in his opinion, it would be dangerous to regard a man of Musial's advanced baseball age as a regular.

"But Stan can still help in a part-time playing capacity," Rickey admitted.

Rickey said he was under the impression earlier Musial was going to retire after the 1962 season. Stan, however, said on several occasions that he planned to return next season.

Disagreement between Rickey and Devine set off feud reports and questions were asked about who was actually running the Cardinals.

Cardinal vice president Dick Meyer and Busch made that clear today.

"Devine is still running the Red Birds," Busch asserted.

Meyer explained Rickey's position on the club was that of a consultant.

Tunnell Says Thurston And Kramer Are Best Guards He Has Seen

Scout Predicts
Giants Will Beat
Dallas Sunday

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

After 14 years of service in the National Football League, Ern Tunnell started a new career this fall as "next opponent" scout for the New York Giants. He replaced Frank Gifford, who decided to make a comeback as a player after a year at the binoculars.

Tunnell spent the first 11 years of his playing career with the Giants, playing with Tom Landry in the Giants' defensive backfield and under him as defensive coach. The last three years Tunnell spent with the Green Bay Packers.

Last Sunday he scouted Landry's Dallas Cowboys, who play the Giants this week while Tunnell will be watching Philadelphia (the Giants' Nov. 18 foe) play his Green Bay pals of last season.

"The worst thing is worrying about the Giants when you can't see them," said Tunnell. "All you team to generate a consistent offense, decided to resign voluntarily. He said Waterfield was not pressured into resigning and that none of the four owners knew of the move until he (Hirsch) telephoned them.

There have been published reports, however, that two of the owners wanted Waterfield replaced by Svare.

Hirsch said the Rams will honor the remainder of Waterfield's contract, generally believed to be for $25,000 a year. Waterfield, an independent movie producer before he took over the Ram job, said he has no immediate plans for the future.

Takes to Road

Svare swung into action in a hurry as his appointment, on an interim basis, was announced by Hirsch. He said that Jim David, defensive backfield coach, will take to the road at once as a player scout, checking college material for the winter draft.

Svare also announced that London Crowe, his former teammate on the New York Giants, would become a player-coach, handling the defensive backfield. Les Richter, veteran center, becomes player-coach in charge of the defensive line and line-backers.

Hampton Pool, the Rams' offensive coach, will continue in that capacity. Svare said he has complete confidence in Pool and his theories.

"I will oversee all the defensive coaching and assume responsibility for the offense," said Svare, who added that he had some ideas for improving the attack. He declined to elaborate.

Svare said he will start Zeke Bratkowski at quarterback here Sunday against the Baltimore Colts, but that he has not had time to evaluate the two rookie quarterbacks, Ron Miller and Roman Gabriel, who have been bypassed by Waterfield.

Lot to Do

"We have a lot to do if we are going to improve over the rest of the season," said Svare. "Remember, we are a very young ball club as compared with the Packers and the Giants and the Lions."

Svare, a former Washington State lineman, was the Rams' 17th draft choice in 1953. Former Ram Coach Sid Gillman traded him to the Giants after the 1954 season, where he played six years, then doubled as a lineman and defensive coach when Tom Landry went to the Dallas Cowboys.

Hirsch said Svare will be given every possible consideration for the Ram coaching job in 1963. Los Angeles has games left with Baltimore and San Francisco here, two games with he champion Packers, and one at Chicago with the Bears.

"I looked in the mirror after I got this appointment," said the genial Svare, "and, honestly, I discovered my first gray hair."

Al Roehl Tops Couples League With 593 Set

Al Roehl slammed a 593 series to pace the Comets Couples League at Hahn's Lanes Saturday night. Lorna Pekarske topped the women keglers with games of 203 and 192 for a 542 series.

Mullins (12-3) are in first place with a 2-game lead over Nebbs.

Other honor scores included a 192 game by Sally Nabbefeld and a 561 series by Paul Recker.

do is watch the scoreboard and hope for the best. Naturally, you hope the things you picked up the week before are helping them."

Jolts Staff

Tunnell jolted the Giants' coaching staff Tuesday at the weekly press luncheon when he reported, "If the Giants play their game, there is no question in my mind that they will beat them (Dallas)."

This was clearly illegal use of optimism for a scout and coach Allie Sherman promptly put in a disclaimer. It took Sherman at least 20 minutes to detail the points that made Dallas a solid threat to knock off the league-leading Giants.

The Giants' game at Dallas figures to be one of the most important on Sunday's NFL program. Unbeaten Green Bay will be going for its ninth straight — plus revenge for that 1960 playoff defeat—against the Philadelphia Eagles in Franklin Field. Baltimore will be at San Francisco, Detroit at Los Angeles, Pittsburgh at St. Louis, Cleveland at Washington and Minnesota at Chicago.

As a member of the Packer club that routed the Giants last New Year's Day, 37-0, in the championship game, Tunnell was asked if he thought the 1962 Packers could go all the way unbeaten.

"It all depends how much the other clubs want to put out in good old blocking and tackling," said Tunnell. "The Packers are a hard hitting club. Somebody could beat them but, like Vince Lombardi said, 'You have to pay the price.' You have to get in there and hit with them. Those two Packer guards (Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer) are the best I ever saw."

Tunnell, who lives in Philadelphia, said his new job called for him to mark each play on a master chart, noting where it went and what defense was used.

"It takes me five hours Sunday night to fit the parts together and figure out the frequency of plays," he said. "Then Monday morning I go up to New York to talk with Sherman. On Saturdays I usually see a college game as a talent scout for the Packers. But the worst part is Sunday — watching that Giant game on the scoreboard."

"They had better block those two big ends (6-7 George Andrie and 6-4 Bob Lilly) on Sunday or they will be in trouble."

'Double Bill' to Open Chamber Music Series

Pianist Bernard Lemoine to Share Stage With Walden String Quartet

Chamber music devotees will be able to hear a sort of musical "double-bill" Monday night when the first of this season's Lawrence Chamber Music Series concerts is played in Harper Hall. Concert time is 8:15 p.m.

The resident ensemble at the University of Illinois, The Walden String Quartet, and Lawrence Conservatory faculty pianist, Bernard Lemoine, will share the three-work program.

Their music will include the Mozart "Quartet No. 15 in D Minor, K. 421," Bartok's "Fourth String Quartet (1928)," and the Brahms "Quintet in F minor, Op. 34, for Piano and String Quartet."

Lemoine will be pianist in the last of these works.

His association with the Walden Quartet goes back to the years 1957-59 when he was an instructor in the University of Illinois.

The Lawrence pianist came to Lawrence in 1959. He now is an assistant professor of music in the Conservatory piano department.

Lemoine received his bachelor's degree at Oberlin College in 1953, and a master's degree in music from the University of Illinois in 1957.

He was a recipient of the Bonn National Republic of Germany award for music study in 1957. His solo appearances include one with the Springfield (Mass.) Symphony Orchestra, and numerous others in the East and Midwest.

Lemoine also studied in New York City with Muriel Kerr, one of last year's Chamber Series artists. At Oberlin, he was a student of Jacob Radinsky, and at Illinois, a pupil of Stanley Fletcher.

During the past summer, the Lawrence professor studied at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester (N. Y.), with Cecile Greiner. The Walden Quartet originated in 1934 when the four string players were members of the Cleveland Orchestra. They took their name from Thoreau's literary classic.

Their acclaim has been international as a result of extensive American and European tours.

Besides performances of the standard literature for quartet, the ensemble has played several hundred new contemporary works on the air and on records, in many cases, world premieres.

The Walden members are: Homer Schmitt and Bernard Goodman, violins, John Garvey, viola, and Robert Swenson, cello. Tickets for the concert are now on sale at Belling Pharmacy, 204 E. College Ave. All seats will be reserved.

Organist Flor Peeters To Give DePere Concert

Celebrated Belgian Artist to Perform At St. Norbert Abbey Church Nov. 16

DE PERE — Flor Peeters, one of the most celebrated organists in the world, will appear in recital Friday, Nov. 16, at St. Norbert Abbey.

The Belgian organist and composer will perform on the Casavant organ in the abbey church at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are available at Newman's in Appleton.

Peeters was born in a little peasant village on the plain that surrounds Antwerp, where his father was village organist. By the time Flor was 8 he already was capable substituting for his father's recitals, and at the death of the organist he took over the post.

Peeters was 20 when the Lemmens Institute at Malines, the central Catholic organ school of Belgium, conferred upon him its Grand Prix for interpretation and composition. At that time he became second organist of the Malines Cathedral. Two years later he became its chief organist.

Today Peeters also is director ahead of the organ department at the Royal Flemish Conservatory in Antwerp.

In the course of his studies he has spent considerable time in Paris, where he worked under famous organist Marcel Dupre, and also with Charles Tournemire, Cesar Franck's disciple.

Peeters is greatly admired by the royal family of his native Belgium. The late King Albert and Queen Elizabeth liked to attend his recitals, and at the death of the king it was Peeters who played the organ and led the choir at the requiem mass, as he did also at the funeral services for Queen Astrid.

More happy court ceremonies at which his great organ has played were the baptism of Prince Albert, and the confirmation of King Beaudouin and Princess Josephine-Charlotte.

Peeters lives quietly with his family in Malines, a charming old city which holds closely to Belgian cultural tradition.

11th Hour Stars Girl In Trouble

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 4-5)—The Eleventh Hour lashes out at the current fashion of allowing (and even encouraging) girls to date when they're only children. Davey Davison plays a 15-year-old (she's really 19) whose permissive parents have given her everything and now she's about to give them something in return—a grandchild. Pat Hingle and Kim Hunter are the parents.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11)—Wagon master Chris Hale (John McIntire) leaves the Wagon Train this week to escort the dead body of an Army major back to his post and his not-so-grieving widow (Nancy Gates).

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—What the Election Means is CBS' attempt to do a 24-hour analysis of yesterday's voting and knock it into form for an hour special.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11)—It's Hard to tell which of two brothers to root for on Going My Way this week. Harry Morgan plays the parishioner of Gene Kelly and Leo G. Carroll. He's a poor but honest post office worker. Along comes his long-missing brother, Eddie Bracken, now a California builder with money to burn.

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—With a few exceptions, all the music on The Perry Como Show this week is from Irving Berlin's "Mr. President"—coincidentally, Perry has an album of this music ready for release. One exception is the song, which guest star Robert Cummings will sing—"Impossible"—in which he'll duet with himself, as his old character, Gramps, via trick tape photography. (Color)

Van Dyke Show wastes a half-hour, but humorously, on a weaker-than-usual premise. The gimmick is that son Richie (Larry Mathews) suddenly becomes aware that his middle name is Rosebud. This, of course, necessitates some parental explanations, which are forthcoming through a series of flashbacks.

9-10 (Channel 11)—Naked City starts out like a ball of fire but fizzles at the end. The basic situation is a sound one — but Rob-Duval plays a bartender who or tips the police off about some associates planning a robbery and murder.

Oral Vaccine Called Link With Polio

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Dr. E. A. Rogers, Nebraska health director, said Tuesday the conclusion of a report by a Public Health Service surveillance team from Atlanta, Ga., "draws a direct connection between Type III Sabin oral vaccine and polio cases in Nebraska this year."

The report to the chief of the service's Kansas City, Kan., field station was signed by Dr. William Paul Glazner and carried the names of Dr. George A. Lamb and Dr. Robert C. Eickema.

Dr. Rogers had requested the study through the Kansas City PHS field station.

At Cincinnati, Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the oral vaccine, said it was "without foundation and rather irresponsible" to suggest his vaccine is linked with paralytic polio cases in Nebraska.

He said he had been advised there were seven "suspect" cases in Nebraska, but added that in five of the cases an analysis showed the ailment was not polio but "other diseases of the nervous system."

The report by the surveillance team said, "The epidemiologic evidence strongly indicates that the paralytic disease occurring in Nebraska is directly related to the feeding of the attenuated poliovirus vaccine." The Sabin vaccine is a live but weakened strain of virus.

Fremont Youth Hurt Slightly in Wreck On U. S. Highway 10

FREMONT — A 16-year-old Fremont youth escaped with minor cuts on his face and head when he was involved in an accident in which the 1955 model automobile he was driving was demolished.

Waupaca County Traffic police said Davey E. Henschel, Fremont was traveling west on U. S. Highway 10 east of Fremont when he lost control of the car he was driving. It left the road, broke off a sign post and tree, and then struck the Wholt Cheese warehouse causing considerable damage to the building.

The accident occurred at 1 a.m. Sunday. Henschel was treated at a local doctor's office and released.

Children Seek Permission to Aid 'Clean-Up'

KIMBERLY — Three students from Holy Name of Jesus School appeared before the village board Monday night seeking permission to undertake a "clean-up promotion project" in the village.

The youngsters are officers of the Junior Citizens Club at the school and indicated school children will make and distribute posters for display in business places, urging citizens to help beautify and clean-up the village.

The posters will deal with unsightly lots, throwing of paper and debris in streets and other things which detract from the beauty of the community. Board members praised the children for their efforts and promised their wholehearted support.

You Just Can't Beat Them 'Revenooers'

WASHINGTON — Funny things happen when citizens run afoul on the Internal Revenue Service. Here's a sampling from the last annual report:

— A New Jersey insurance salesman was convicted of failure to pay income taxes and placed on probation. Part of his probation — no golf.

— A Seattle surgeon also was freed on probation when he agreed to serve a year as a medical missionary to Nepal.

— A Denver industrialist told a revenue agent investigating his tax returns to "drop dead." He wound up in jail for tax evasion.

— A California taxpayer tried to escape prosecution by setting fire to tax forms in the Fresno Internal Revenue office.

Self Denial Rewarding

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you went to your first party your mother undoubtedly instructed you not to take everything that was offered to you. Of course you didn't take this advice, but maybe wisdom has come with the years. Try a little self denial at the bridge table.

a heart to remove dummy's ace. Now there was no side entry in dummy for the long clubs.

Undismayed, South returned a low club from dummy and finesse with the nine of clubs from his own hand. This fine play gave West a chance to blunder.

You can see what happens if West wins with the jack of clubs. South later overtakes the king of clubs with dummy's ace. When the queen of clubs drops on this trick the rest of dummy's long suit becomes good.

Sees Trap
West saw the trap just in time and refused to win the club trick. Now South was in trouble, he had only two club tricks instead of five.

After some thought, South decided to play for a 3-3 break in spades, with the king on the East hand. He therefore led a low spade after being allowed to win a trick with the nine of clubs.

West won and knocked out the jack of hearts. Now South overtook the king of clubs with dummy's ace to try a spade finesse. This lost, and West cashed two hearts and the jack of clubs to put South down two. Refusing the first club trick made a difference of three tricks to the defenders.

South can make the contract if he sees all of the cards. After winning with the nine of clubs, South cashes the king of clubs, the jack of hearts and the top diamonds. Then he puts West in with a low spade. West can cash two hearts but must then give South three spades or dummy three clubs.

Your Problems

Locks No Protection Against Woman's Fear of Burglars

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a wife who is needlessly terrified of burglars? I've spent a fortune on locks and specially designed devices for every window and door in the house.

She insists on leaving lights on all night, a radio or TV so "he" can hear the footsteps of an intruder.

How can I get through to this woman that she is worrying her self sick over nothing? — Enough Already

Dear Enough Already: Fear is emotional and you can't make a person stop being afraid by telling him there's nothing to be afraid of. Locks, special devices or a carload of breakfast cereal won't make her feel secure — so save your money, Dad.

Your wife's fears are probably rooted in childhood anxieties which were never resolved. She needs professional help. This is no do-it-yourself project.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister who is two years older has always considered herself better-looking, more popular and more appealing to men. I must admit this is true.

Six years ago we both were married — she to a man the family did not approve of, and can hear the footsteps of an intruder.

How can I get through to this woman that she is worrying her self sick over nothing? — Enough Already

Dear Enough Already: Fear is emotional and you can't make a person stop being afraid by telling him there's nothing to be afraid of. Locks, special devices or a carload of breakfast cereal won't make her feel secure — so save your money, Dad.

Your wife's fears are probably rooted in childhood anxieties which were never resolved. She needs professional help. This is no do-it-yourself project.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister who is two years older has always considered herself better-looking, more popular and more appealing to men. I must admit this is true.

Six years ago we both were married — she to a man the family did not approve of, and

I to a wonderful person who was the answer to all my prayers. I considered my marriage ideal. We have three youngsters.

Two months ago my sister and her husband moved out of town and immediately after, their marriage broke up. My husband then told me that he had married her out of pity and that he had always been secretly in love with my sister. I could not believe it.

He wants a divorce and is trying to sell our home. I do not want a divorce but it's hell to live with a man who doesn't want me.

I don't know if he has been seeing my sister or not — he won't say. It may be that his feeling for her is one-sided. Please help me. I'm 27 and ready to jump into the lake. — Shattered

Dear Shattered: Judging from what you've told me I suspect your sister figures in the picture somewhere, which makes it more painful and, of course, uglier.

You don't have to give your husband a divorce just because he wants one. Tell him nothing doing. And if he leaves, make sure he knows about the support laws. In the meantime there's always the chance that he may return to his senses. Chin up, Honey.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were especially interested in the letter signed "Old Hand." I agreed with you that if you invite people two or three times and they make no effort to reciprocate, you shouldn't invite them back.

Does this go for relatives too? My brother and his wife have been married two years. We've had them to our home for dinner at least a dozen times. They have yet to invite us to their place for a cup of coffee. We know for a fact they do entertain. About four months ago we stopped inviting them. Now when we meet at family gatherings they give us the cold shoulder.

We are planning a big get-together for all the family in December. Shall we include them although they are at least a dozen invitations behind? — D. D.

Dear D. D.: Do not exclude them from a family get-together even if they get 100 invitations behind. As relatives they should be invited to family functions, but I see no reason to keep entertaining them socially if they don't treat you in the same manner.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For their initial appearance, the three Miss Oshkosh queens wore identical sleeveless mohair sheath dresses in ice cream sundae colors of pink, yellow and green. For her first appearance on the fashion ramp, which extended from the holiday decked stage into the audience section of the auditorium, Miss Wisconsin wore a short evening frock of a golden beige shade with glitter top and silky full skirt.

Saving Tips for Fall Jersey Knits

The popular Jersey knits demand extra-special care. Here are some practical fall home care fashion tips.

Sometimes these knits will block and shape easily. But there are cases where the fabric can shrink, stretch, or sag. This is less likely to occur in a close knit fabric. Another point to consider when buying is the cut, on the grain. Sometimes they may be cut a bit off-grain and may snag easily. Avoid snagging this fabric. It's very difficult to mend.

Alterations may present another problem. Stitches leave tiny holes that show where a seam used to be.

Boys' Accident Rate Higher Than Girls'

Pre-school boys have twice as many accidents as girls, even when playing in a very safe place under close supervision, according to recent study.

Thirty-four three and four-year-olds were observed in a free play situation indoors and outdoors over a period of four months. The group was evenly divided in sex and was closely supervised.

Boys had twice as many accidents and almost twice as many near-accidents as girls. They engaged in more hazardous activities, took greater risks, and moved faster than girls. They endangered others as well as themselves almost twice as often.

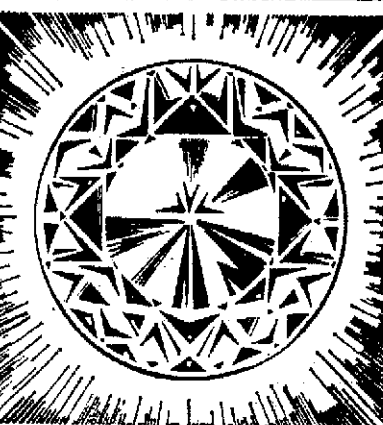

It appeared that stronger emotion, whether of happiness, excitement, anger, affection, showed up in increased activity, and hence in increased accidents.

Among both boys and girls a repeated tendency was noted in some children. These children had a greater proportion of both accidents and near-accidents. In these cases, their record indicated that they were either unaware of potential danger or unconcerned — they didn't try to avoid an accident.

From this it seems that pre-school accidents are caused by the child's failure to adjust his behavior to circumstances around him, either because he doesn't recognize the danger or because he doesn't have the ability to prevent it.

Parent's World

Here Are Ways to Cure Boy Who Is Frustrated

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: The oldest of my three children, a 5-year-old boy, doesn't seem to be able to handle frustration of any sort. He becomes almost hysterical when something like an airplane wing breaks and he has a hard time regaining control of himself.

Eve Jones

You may be over-emphasizing the "That's a big boy" aspects of his life, so you fail to keep him from biting off more than he can chew. This is likely if the blowups occur when he's playing. To stop them, insist that he stop what he's doing and engage, instead, in something you know he can handle. Tell him you love him perfectly well because he's a 5-year-old, not a grown up.

If the blow-ups occur when you ask something reasonable of him, however, it's likely that you're asking too much of him in some other regard. Limit your expectations to his responsibilities for himself. Refuse to accept any favors from him, and you ought to be able to calm him down.

THE CAR POOL MENACE
Dear Eve Jones: I participate in a car-pool driving my son and his four colleagues home from junior kindergarten. The two girls are quiet and pleasant, and my son and one boy get along well. But another boy always causes trouble and starts to use his fists as soon as he can.

I've told him the rules for safety, including no hitting, but he puts his hands over his eyes and smirks at me when I tell him to behave. The other drivers report the same behavior.

MRS. C. F. Tell his mother that because you and the other mothers can't drive safely with her son in the car, you can't take him in the car. He obviously already has giant-sized problems, and it's understandable that you feel reluctant about adding to them. But your responsibility stops with alerting his mother to her son's behavior. From then on, it's up to her. "To Spank or Not to Spank" is the title of a new booklet by Dr. Jones that offers advice about this parent-child problem. For a copy write to her in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Vote Against Combining of School Offices

Outagamie Downs Proposal to Join With Waupaca

The Outagamie County education committee today voted against joining the county superintendent offices of Outagamie and Waupaca counties.

The jointure was proposed by state superintendent of public instruction Angus B. Rothwell.

Rothwell presided at a public hearing today of the two-county education committees at the Outagamie County courthouse. Rothwell said he will meet with the Waupaca educational committee to discuss possibilities of joining with a different county or of appointing a superintendent. He said it may be possible to have someone from one of the areas still under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent to serve as superintendent.

The merger with Outagamie County was proposed after George Barber, former Waupaca superintendent, joined the Manawa school system as a curriculum director recently, leaving Waupaca with no superintendent.

Last year Winnebago County turned down a joint school superintendent with Waupaca County. Winnebago County had so little territory to be covered and couldn't agree on location of the office, so the proposal was dropped.

Shawano Elects Carl Krueger County Sheriff

Republicans Sweep Court Clerk, DA, Treasurer Posts

Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — Shawano County residents reelected Sheriff Carl Krueger after one of the most hotly disputed contests in history and one that apparently will not end for some time.

Krueger seeking his second term as a Republican defeated Democrat Merlin Rosenow 4,732 to 3,455. A third candidate Shawano County Traffic Chief Edward Bahr running as an independent polled 1,958.

The sheriff had defeated the traffic officer in the Republican primary and currently is in a struggle for control of the traffic department with him. A hearing on the matter was reopened and has been scheduled for December.

In other Shawano County voting Mike Eberlien seeking his first term as District Attorney in place of his brother, Fritz, on the Republican ticket edged Gresham attorney, Kenneth Traeger, 5,393 to 4,538.

Republican William Kumm was elected Court Clerk by a 7,137 to 2,590 margin. In the race for Register of Deeds Republican Waldemar Berndt polled 6,029 to 3,864 for his Democratic opponent Melba Bayer.

Grover Beversdorf was reelected

Area Votes 'Yes' on Each Referendum

Fox Cities area voters concurred with the rest of the state in approving the four referenda on the ballot Tuesday.

Approved was a minor constitutional revision to count untaxed Indians for reapportionment purposes, approving making the county executive officer in Milwaukee County a constitutional officer and giving him veto power, and allowing Wisconsin residents who move out of the state, the right to vote by absentee ballot after leaving the state.

In Outagamie County, the Indian referendum was approved 10,732 to 4,477, the county executive, 8,524 to 5,977, the veto power, 8,509 to 5,740 and election 10,160 to 4,098.

In Calumet County, the first referendum was approved 2,848 to 1,658, the second, 2,147 yes and 2,005 no; the third, 2,198 yes and 1,867 no; and the fourth carried 2,786 to 1,316.

Waupaca County voters approved the first referendum 4,944 to 2,409; the second was approved 3,662 to 2,987; the third was backed 3,789 to 2,834 and the fourth was okayed 4,785 to 2,159.

The Winnebago and Shawano

ed Treasurer on the Republican ticket defeating Fred Laehm 6,937 to 2,831.

Elected with opposition were Republicans Neil Druckrey, County Clerk, with 7,757 votes; Harvey Stubenvoll, Coroner with 7,375.

county totals on the referenda were not available at press time. Winnebago County voters Tuesday endorsed all four referendum questions by a decisive margin. On the first, voters indicated "Indians not taxed" should be counted for apportionment purposes, 14,502 to 6,788.

They agreed to establishment of an elected chief executive for counties of 500,000 population by 11,530 to 8,676 and approved giving such a executive veto powers, 11,428 to 8,534.

On changing voting requirements it was 14,422 in favor and 5,945 opposed.

30,000 Ballots Cast

Ticket Splitting, Heavy Turnout Slows Outagamie Vote Count

Post-Crescent City Editor

You could hear the tickets splitting all over Outagamie County. The election boards were later than usual in reporting returns, and that was the tipoff. It takes a lot longer to count the votes when there are fewer straight tickets.

The first return from Outagamie County did not reach the county clerk's office until 8:18 p.m. Tuesday. Normally, at least a precinct or two are in soon after 7 p.m. And there have been times when the first vote report came in as early as 5:20 p.m.

Outagamie County voters flocked to the polls in unprecedented numbers for an off-year election. At least 30,087 ballots were cast, compared with about 17,600 in the September primary election and 27,000 in the last comparable election in 1958.

The record turnout occurred in November, 1960, when more than 41,450 ballots were cast in Outagamie County. That turnout was in the presidential election which followed personal visits by both presidential candidates to the Fox Cities in the year preceding the election.

There were 15,685 votes cast in the Outagamie County portion of Appleton Tuesday and 14,402 votes in the rest of the county. The Second Precinct of the Ninth Ward, in Calumet County, cast 428 votes, bringing the Appleton total to 16,113.

For the first time in a long time, the Democrats had a representative in the Post-Crescent newsroom while the votes were being tabulated. William Cherkasky, who, along with perhaps half a dozen others carried the heavy burden of campaign organization and work for the Democrats, came around late in the evening to watch the tabulating.

Cherkasky, like everyone else, was keeping a close tab on the sheriff race and was predicting victory a bit quicker than some of the others.

The cheering rattled the receiver when Calvin Spice's Democratic headquarters was informed by telephone that the Heinritz brothers were on their way to Kaukauna to concede with four precincts still unreported. Spice held a 404-vote margin at the time.

William Rogers, Kaukauna Democrat making his first try for office, found it a little hard to believe he had won the Second District Assembly seat. Rogers held a substantial lead with 10 precincts still unreported, but they were in traditionally heavy Republican areas—including the home territory of his GOP opponent, Incumbent Marvin Babbitt, and Rogers still was concerned "You're in," the Post-Crescent told him, making arrangements for a picture.

"I'm serious," Rogers protested. "How does it look for me?" Stephen "Stub" Peeters, who enters every election holding three

First winning candidate to arrive on the wire photo machine was Abraham Ribicoff, whose victorious smile was seen at 8:32 p.m. By 9:31 p.m. Rockefeller came in while Thurston Morton was on at 9:39 p.m.

Newly elected Sen. Gaylord Nelson came in at 12:15 a.m. Wednesday.

There was a bright spot on the wire at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday when the bustling blondness of Zsa Zsa Gabor appeared. It wasn't that she was running for office — she got married (again).

Reynolds led Kuehn — at least on the Photofax — as his picture arrived at 10:20, but Kuehn was right behind. Nelson was in at

12 Horses Killed in Suffolk Downs Fire

BOSTON (AP)—Twelve horses perished early today as fire destroyed three barns at the Suffolk Downs race track.

Four alarms brought a concentration of fire fighting apparatus to the track before the blaze was declared under control.

The fire broke out some two hours after a crowd of 8,000 had left the track after an election night harness racing program.

There was a sharp difference of opinion between city and rural voters on the referenda questions relating to authorizing Milwaukee yes. Rural voters said no. They got together behind "Yes" though posts by default. Still, many Re-aces — he's Republican, from publican workers were disappointed and Democrats, for the most part were jubilant. The big ones went to the Democrats.

The Republicans won 11 of 15 contested races on which Outagamie County voters expressed themselves and won two more County to have a chief executive with veto power. City voters said on the other questions.

Menominees Go Democrat

Republicans Lose Majority in All But Two Ballots

Post-Crescent News Service

KESHENA — Practically every adult resident of Menominee County turned out to vote Tuesday in a show of strength for the Democrats in the state's newest county.

In all, 575 voters cast ballots on the former Menominee Indian Reservation, which has a total population of 2,600 most of them tribal members.

With two exceptions, Democrats polled majorities in all of the ballot races.

Governor-elect John W. Reynolds, the Democrat, lost to Republican Philip Kuehn, 283 to 292. The protest vote against Reynolds was seen as Indian objections to an attorney general's opinion issued by Reynolds saying the Menominees must obey the state's hunting, fishing and trapping rules.

Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Marshfield, polled 304 votes in his bid for reelection to 262 for John Evans, a Wausau Democrat. Laird has taken a strong interest in Indian negotiations with the federal government over tribal termination, which went into effect on May 1, 1961.

Peters Polls 369
Incumbent Menominee County office holders, all Democrats appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to their first terms of office, won bids for reelection on their own in the first countywide general election.

Sheriff Wilmer Peters polled 369 votes to 164 for Republican Aloysius Frechette and 8 for Francis Leon, who ran as an independent.

County clerk George Bowan polled 345 votes to 201 for Atlee Dodge, the Republican challenger. Bowan is the only non-Menominee on the county slate. A white man, he is married to a Menominee.

Treasurer Bruce Wilbur outpolled Erwin Besaw, 329 to 201, and Arnold Corn was renamed coroner over Joseph White, 406, to 120. Polling complimentary votes were clerk of court Mary Grignon, 444, and register of deeds Lillian Plas, 437. Neither had opposition.

In other races, Menominee County voters favored Gov. Gaylord Nelson, the Democrat, in his successful bid to unseat U. S. Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Chippewa Falls, by a margin of 369 to 201.

Election Day's Pretty Dull In Newsroom Until Polls Close

BY HARRY KURTZ

Post-Crescent News Service

Election day is a dull day. Wait a minute — let's say that Election Day is a dull day until the polls close.

For instance, what does the Associated Press Photofax (that's the wire which brings news photos into the Post-Crescent's office) send on election day? It sends photos of candidates voting.

George Romney was the first candidate to come across the wire, rolling in at 8:20 a.m. Harry Truman made it a few minutes later, followed closely by Dwight David Eisenhower.

President Kennedy's photo came in at 9:15 a.m. followed seven minutes later by his younger brother, Edward, better known as Ted.

Reynolds led Kuehn — at least on the Photofax — as his picture arrived at 10:20, but Kuehn was right behind. Nelson was in at

Person Who Falls Shouldn't be Moved

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Recently my aunt fell down some stairs. She was in great pain and unable to stand up. People came to her assistance, helped her walk up and into a car and took her to the hospital. X-rays showed she had a broken hip. Although she fell on a Thursday, she was not operated on until Saturday. The surgeon said it was a very bad break. Pins were used to hold the bones in place, plus traction. Although the people assisting her meant well, did they really offer proper first aid? Also I thought a broken bone had to be set as soon as possible. Can you give me a reason for the delay?—Mrs. J.W.

If there is a possibility of fracture or internal injury—and in this case either or both could be suspected—the patient should be made as comfortable as possible but should not be moved. A rolled up coat or pillow can be tucked under the head; a blanket can be laid over the body. A tight collar may be gently loosened. If a doctor can be summoned at once, fine.
Call Ambulance
If not, call an ambulance. Trained people with a stretcher can transport a patient to the hospital with the least pain, and what is more important, the least movement of broken bones. I can't say whether your aunt

As for waiting two days for surgery, I don't know the circumstances; however there are several valid possibilities. You don't rush into an operation of this sort blindly. You take X-rays, and study them thoroughly, to see the fracture and know in advance what materials will be needed once the operation is in progress. There can be considerable shock in such an injury. The patient, especially if elderly, may need time to rest before the surgery which, of course, is a physical strain in itself.
It is foolhardy to rush into the operating room without knowing the condition of the patient's heart and circulation and blood type. Further, some delay can let inflammation, swelling and muscle spasm subside.
True, it may be wise to set a simple fracture of an arm or leg as soon as possible to minimize, to protect against further injury from movement, and to permit the knitting to start immediately. The pinning of a hip is considerably different. And with the patient in the hospital, there's pro-

When elderly persons fall and complain of pain in the leg or hip, or the foot is found to be turned out at an unusual angle, they should be left lying. Keep them warm and comfortable until they can be moved properly.
Prudent delay in setting a fracture is a matter of the surgeon's judgment and the nature of the break.
Dear Dr. Molner: What are the consequences of drinking low-calorie soft drinks for dieting? I have heard that the artificial sweeteners will harm the kidneys.—Mrs. A. W.
I don't know of anything harmful, and suspect that you have merely heard a modern version of another old wives' tale.
Dear Dr. Molner: What could give a person a constant fever? It goes up to 99.6, then down to 98.—M.D.
Every effort should be made to rule out infection—TB, sinus, trouble, tonsils, undulant fever, or a host of others. Any persistent infection can cause this sort of fever.

WASHINGTON — Now that our Nation's Capital has survived the initial shock of the prospect of teetering on the edge of oblivion, a possibility at which President Kennedy hinted during his nationwide televised speech on Cuba, Washington has settled down to its normal philosophy of confusion and contradictions as usual.
One of the primary confusions here centers around news censorship. The American Society of Newspaper Editors in particular, protesting violently against the Pentagon black-out of developments on Cuba.
These editorial protests came several days after the Pentagon and the White House admonished the Washington press corp to censor itself voluntarily and not let any military secrets out of the bag.

By making these admonishments, government officials chose to follow a dual course of action regarding the Press which in itself seemed both confusing and contradictory.
Press Invited
That was because the Powers that BE first decided to invite the Press to two formal briefings the day following President Kennedy's declaration of a naval quarantine against Cuba. But the cigarette smoke had scarcely cleared away after the briefings when an order came through to the Press to impose voluntary censorship on itself.
Presumably, this voluntary gag rule was invoked with reference to any information absorbed at these same briefings, held at the invitation of the Defense and State Departments. And the reason these two Departments held separate, rather than joint briefings, is explained by the fact that they just do not fraternize that way.

However, the government should never have worried about censorship breaks emanating out of these briefings, because newsmen learned little or nothing new to report. Only unusually garrulous "journalists" would find it hard to impose self-discipline to keep those briefings under wraps.
Information Buried
The real censorship that reporters are inflicting upon themselves is a sort of retroactive restriction. Information gained weeks ago from Pentagon officials or members of Congress whose committee memberships give them special insight on military or international affairs must now be buried in the back indexes of the mind. For much of this information has a specific application to the situation today.
And if that particular knowl-

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The military buildup in Florida took on something of a permanent look yesterday with the disclosure that the Air Force has taken over a motel and docks at Marathon.
An Air Force colonel told the Miami Herald that 200 men would move in and their dependents would follow shortly. A year-to-year lease is reportedly being negotiated.
The colonel, who would not give his name, said the soldiers are part of a communications outfit. edge is power, it is also a heavy weight on one's shoulders, especially in the quiet hours of the night when sleep does not come. It is during those hours that the realization comes on what a spot we are in, as indeed the whole world is in. The realization also comes that both panic and indifference are equally damaging to the county and are to be avoided.

Jobless Rate Is Political Dynamite

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The unemployment story in our country we know only too well. Since 1957, joblessness has stuck above 5 per cent of our work force, and even now, 21 months after business started up and with the country in the grip of a new international crisis, our unemployment rate still is close to 6 per cent. This is economic and political dynamite, and we all know it.

But what about the unfilled jobs that exist throughout the country, side by side with the unemployment?

This story we do not know, except in the most general way. We do not have accurate statistics showing how many jobs are seeking workers, in what occupations there are major job opportunities, in what regions there are untapped pools of employment in contrast to pools of unemployment.

Key Solution

We may suspect that lots of employers, particularly small businessmen, have jobs available, but we cannot confirm our suspicions with statistics. We may be positive training - retraining is a key solution to long-term unemployment, but we don't have precise information to guide us on what jobs to train workers for and where to direct them when trained.

The lack of statistics on job vacancies is "one of the more conspicuous gaps in our labor force information," said the President's Committee to Appraise Employment & Unemployment Statistics in a just-issued report. No suggestion, it added, "for improvement of knowledge about the nation's labor markets was more frequently voiced to this committee than that calling for job vacancy statistics."

Several highly important conclusions were reached by this committee, chaired by economics professor Robert A. Gordon of the University of California. One publicized finding was that even when unemployment rates in other nations are measured exactly the same way as our rates, our jobless rate still stands double to five times above the rates in most other countries. Another was that our employment statistics are the best in the world and there is no doubting their "scientific objectivity."

But as provocative as any finding was this emphasis on the almost complete absence of information on job vacancies.

Limited Use

The only detailed occupational statistics we have are those collected in the decennial census. These figures are 12 years old before a new set becomes available. The monthly household survey on employment is of exceedingly limited usefulness. While it is clear that job vacancy statistics must come from employers, the Bureau of Labor Statistics as of now collects this data on only a few occupations.

The need for this information - and we're going to get the figures now that the lack of them has been dramatized - is indisputable.

Up to date, national figures on job vacancies will be of vital help in recruiting and placing employees.

They'll be essential to the proper carrying out of the large-scale training programs now starting under the Manpower Training Act.

They will may turn out to be one of our most reliable, early signals of turns in the economy. Increasing vacancies would precede rising hiring of workers, for instance - and an increasing hiring rate already is accepted as a signal telegraphing in advance an upturn in business activity.

Inflation Sign

They surely will reveal the condition of our labor market. As an illustration, if the total of vacancies exceeds the total of unemployed, this could be a sign that the economy is straining toward inflation.

Steps already are being taken to fill the gap the Gordon Committee has underlined. The BLS is working on a questionnaire to be sent to between 500 and 1,000 companies in various industries before next spring as part of a pilot survey on job vacancies. Studies are to be made of what job vacancy data is now available, especially among state employment agencies. Studies also will be made of how job vacancy information is used in other countries, such as Canada, Great Britain, West Germany.

It's so obvious a gap that it seems astounding we've permitted it to exist so long. Even before the loophole is filled, I can see this one statistic moving rapidly toward the top of the list of economic tools to help individual Americans and the U.S. economy as a whole achieve new high standards of well-being.

The Law and You

Freedom of Speech Has Very Few Legal Limits

"Vote for Joe Blow," screamed the loud speaker. It was mounted on the top of a gaily decorated car which drove slowly up and down the city streets.

During election campaigns our rights of freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of assembly are exercised liberally, and rightfully so.

We think of freedom of the press and speech as applying to mass media like newspapers, radio and television. But how about the rights of individuals such as candidates for public office and their workers?

The law stands up for the soap-box orator, the doorbell ringer, and the man or woman on the street corner who hands you a pamphlet.

As a rule, only if a speech incites riot, confuses traffic or disrupts the public seriously can the police stop the speaker. Certainly they cannot for talking peacefully to small groups.

House-to-House

The house-to-house speaker may annoy you, but if he does not solicit business or money the law won't stop him. His way of spreading thought is basic.

Handbills passed out in the streets are protected too, even though they may litter the streets after people take them. Cities may limit commercial handbills and the law can punish litterbugs.

The sound truck has often been called the poor man's forum which cities cannot ban just because they annoy people. But cities can regulate them reasonably, such as to limit their use to certain hours of the day.

The cities may also regulate the time and place of speeches. Big rallies in streets or parks at odd times can destroy good order and peace. Even so, they cannot ban such talks altogether.

Free speech protects political, social and religious interests. Courts strike down laws that allow the government to tell us what ideas citizens may read or hear.

No Change Shown In Nation's Mood

Neither Kennedy Nor Eisenhower
Campaigning Was Too Useful

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—This was a catch-as-catch-can election. It showed no sign of any real change in the national mood. But it did reveal a lot of discontent among voters toward their state parties or individuals. Nor could President Kennedy or former President Eisenhower claim any infallible political magic. Both campaigned for their party candidates in a number of states. In some their side won, in some it lost. The national mood was expressed in 1960 when the Democrats were given control of the federal government. Voters could have swept them out Tuesday, if they were dissatisfied, and given the Republicans control of Congress. This didn't happen. The Democrats went into this

Grand Chute Electors Okay Vote Machines

Town of Grand Chute voters Tuesday approved purchase of voting machines. The electors used the machines for the third time as they favored their purchase, 730 to 214. The machines were used to permit voters to become acquainted with them in the spring election and the primary election in September. First precinct voters favored the machines, 435 to 106, and second precinct voters favored purchase, 292 to 106, and second precinct voters favored purchase, 292 to 108. Grand Chute thus joins Appleton, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Kimberly in Outagamie county in use of voting machines. There now are machines in 29 of the county's 56 precincts. The precincts are among the largest in voter population. Although the polls stay open in those precincts until 8 p.m. while many others close an hour or more earlier, the results are the earliest tabulated and reported to the county clerk.

Heiress to Estate Of $160,000 Found After Long Search

CHICAGO (AP) — A reluctant heiress to an estate of more than $160,000 has been brought into Probate Court after a three-year search. Miss Alice Colton, 59, appeared after her sister-in-law Mrs. Alice Hall of Evanston, testified she believed the missing woman dead. When brought to the witness chair, Miss Colton snapped, "I didn't go after this thing. They came after me. I wasn't hiding from anyone." However, court appointed attorneys said a nationwide search was only terminated a week ago when they located Miss Colton in a tidy North Side apartment. Investigators told the court that Miss Colton long ago cut herself off from old friends and relatives and now lived on relief. The estate of $170,000 was in cash and 765 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph stock valued in excess of $83,000 was left by Miss Colton's sister, Mrs. Marie C. Longergan, who died in 1959 in Chicago at the age of 79. Mrs. Longergan's husband died in 1958. The hearing was continued to Nov. 29 to allow for further investigation.

Helble Sees 2 or 3 More Years of Fighting in Viet Nam

Appleton Native, on Leave From Far East Post, Talks to Rotarians

A U.S. State Department official stationed in South Viet Nam Tuesday told Appleton Rotary Club members he believes the war between North and South Viet Nam will continue for another two or three years.

John Helble, son of Herbert H. Helble, principal of Appleton High School, while on furlough from his post in the Far East country, said "We need time and we need patience. The war, I'm sure, will last another two or three years."

He added if the war continues in the direction it is going, "we are given no doubt we will win."

Crowd of 150
Approximately 150 Rotarians heard Helble tell of the past, present and future of South Viet Nam. His topic was "What is Going On in South Viet Nam?"

"The question is why do we have a war?" Helble said.

"What is going on now is what was attempted in Korea. The war is communist inspired—communist directed. It is a guerrilla, clandestine effort to take over."

"It is an effort we sometimes find ourselves a loss at," Helble said. He noted that it is a type of fighting. He compared it to our War of Independence, which also used guerrilla tactics.

"Chain Link"
Helble said Viet Nam is for the United States "a link in a chain constructed over a period of years designed to contain the Communist effort, to prevent expansion."

"Viet Nam represents a key link in the chain, especially Southeast Asia," he said.

"Should South Vietnam fall to the communists, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Burma, Malaya and Indonesia would also soon fall."

"If this happened, Helble said, there is no doubt the rest of our allies in the rest of the world would lose faith in us. They would soon decide we don't mean what we say."

Helble, however, pointed out that South Viet Nam "is a difficult area to fight a war in."

He said "the communist regime is firmly installed in North Viet Nam. That part, he said, is recognized only by the communist countries of the world and sup-

Fluoridation Beaten 2 to 1 At Brillion

BRILLION — Fluoridation of the city's water supply was beaten by a two to one margin in a special referendum in Tuesday's election.

There were 541 no votes and 214 yes votes with 13 blank ballots.

Supporters said they had no immediate plans to again attempt the issue.

Fluoridation of the city's water supply as a dental health measure was a proposal of the local Jaycee chapter. For more than two months members had been holding panel discussions and conducting a general campaign in support of fluoridation.

City officials said they felt many of the voters went against fluoridation because of scare tactics used by anti-fluoride people.

Jaycees, in the final week before election, conducted a door-to-door and telephone campaign. Anti-fluoridation literature was mailed to every resident during the weekend.

Consulting Firm Gets Green Light to Prepare a Capital Improvement Plan for City

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A professional consulting firm Tuesday was given the green light to prepare a suggested five-year capital-improvement program for the city of Appleton.

The facts of life concerning realistic capital outlay programming and long-range planning were related in a diplomatic manner during a special meeting of city officials with Kenneth L. Schellie, Indianapolis, head of Schellie Associates, planning consultants.

At the joint session of the board of public works and the council's finance committee at city hall, Schellie disclosed that Appleton has been including hundreds of thousands of dollars in operational budgets annually for items which represented capital outlay.

Policy Questioned
Schellie advised that outlays which will last for more than a year or two should be considered term capital improvements and paid for accordingly. He questioned a policy of including such capital outlays in the city's annual operational budget.

Recently, the common council adopted the 1963 capital improvements program suggested by the Appleton Taxpayers' Association, and requested that Schellie's firm prepare a program to cover 1964 through 1969. The five-year program would be in somewhat with the regional planning scheme.

Schellie said in addition to the five-year program, his firm intends to project a list of capital outlay projects for the city covering the period 1969 through 1985. He emphasized that any type of capital improvement program would be subject to review on an annual basis by city officials who may wish to revise priority schedules.

City officials told Schellie they were primarily concerned with the five-year program at this time.

"Our purpose will be to attempt to get a list of all capital improvement projects needed whether a budget or bond issue item," Schellie said.

All Wisconsin Congressmen Re-Elected

Some in Trouble Early But Triumph In Final Count

Re-election of the incumbents bore out most election forecasts in Wisconsin congressional races. (A story on the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth District is on Page 1.)

Rep. Robert Kastner, a 38-year-old Watertown Democrat bidding for a third term as 2nd District congressman, had the toughest scrap.

First returns placed him behind his Republican challenger, Ivan Kindschi of Marshall. But when tabulations reached the half-way point in the five-county district which includes Dane County and the city of Madison, Kastner took charge. Still his final margin was not expected to match the 15,000-vote edge that re-elected him in 1960.

Republican Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski of Mercer also had trouble before showing his customary sure foot in the big 10th District of northern Wisconsin.

Hanson Faltered

O'Konski's Democratic opponent, J. Louis Hanson of Mellen, faltered about a third of the way through the race, however, and the man who claims seniority in Wisconsin's congressional delegation moved ahead to win an eleventh consecutive term.

On the other side of the coin, Democratic Reps. Clement J. Zablocki and Henry Reuss were quick and easy winners once returns came in from their Milwaukee strongholds. Zablocki more than doubled the vote of his 4th District Republican opponent, David Tilton, and Reuss whipped GOP contender Thomas F. Nelson in the 5th.

Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg, a Burlington Republican who surprised Democrat Gerald T. Blynn of Racine in 1960, whipped the former congressman again in a rematch. Schadeberg's majority again was close to 10,000 votes.

In the 9th District, Democratic Rep. Lester Johnson of Black River Falls won a fifth full term in beating Republican Dennis B. Danielson, a onetime Assemblyman from Eau Claire.

Order Inquest Into Death of Appleton High School Girl

An inquest into the automobile death of an Appleton High School girl, Miss Beverly Blazek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blazek, 1224 W. Glendale Ave., was ordered today by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps.

The inquest will seek information into the death of the girl who rode as a passenger in a car driven by John Bartmann Jr., 1118 W. Spring St. It will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in County Court, Branch 2.

Miss Blazek was killed Oct. 20, when the car she was in struck a tree in the 2100 block of N. Harriman Street. Bartmann was injured in the accident and was

Democrats Break GOP Hold in Outagamie

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The New Frontier has broken into the county's exclusive Republican Club in the Outagamie County courthouse where, for the first time in 30 years, a Democratic officeholder, Sheriff Calvin Spice will hang his hat next January.

Depending on your political point of view, the change was apparent immediately.

If you were a Democrat, the elevators seemed to run faster and more often. If you were a Republican, the cables snapped and groaned and the machinery threatened to break down in between floors.

Rooms too Hot

If you were a Democrat, the offices which seemed too hot in the summer or too cold in the winter suddenly seemed to be just right. For the Republican, the old courthouse structure showed signs of complete breakdown.

Office workers, most of whom had stayed awake throughout the entire vote count, discussed the change over early morning coffee klatches, along corridors, and in whispered tones between court cases.

Traffic officers and sheriff officials expressed mixed emotions over the strange turnabout. Two traffic men had tried for the office of sheriff and one had made it. Most patrolmen waited until Spice reported back to duty tonight before expressing personal gratitudes.

Outagamie County Under-

sheriff Donald Heinritz reported to his office about 9 a.m. and set about a full day's task of delivering court subpoenas and warrants. He appeared in abnormal good spirits and parried with office visitors who stopped to express their regrets or condolences.

"I'm naturally disappointed," Heinritz said, "but I'm sure the most disappointed person is my son, Donny, who, at 5 years of age, doesn't understand why his daddy isn't going to be sheriff."

Heinritz said he and his son had a long talk early this morning.

Courthouse visitors stopped perfect strangers in the hallways and asked them "Well, how's it feel?" Most of the county employees knew what the strangers meant. Some told how they felt. Some didn't.

Phone Calls

The telephone operators in the county clerk's office were busy handling an unusual amount of telephone calls, most people asking for current results on top state races. There were few calls for results of the sheriff's race.

Judge Gustave Keller, who discontinued court Tuesday because of election day, opened sessions an hour early today to make up for lost time. Judge Keller, an avowed Democrat who runs, however, on a non-partisan ticket for office, took time out today to claim it would be nice having company on the New Frontier.

Little Chute Man Elected To SPEBSQSA Position

Frank Hermesen, Little Chute, was elected vice president of Region 2 at the Land O'Lakes District SPEBSQSA convention in Kenosha last weekend.

Officers, officers elect, a novice quartet and other members of the Appleton Valley-Aires attended the convention. The "Chords 'n' Notes" bulletin of the Appleton chapter won fourth place in the 1962 bulletin contest.

Don Balke, Milwaukee, a former member of the Appleton chapter and the A-Tro Notes Quartet, coached the Crescendos of Wauwatosa, who were picked as novice champions, placed third among 26 quartets in the preliminary contest and competed for the district championship.

In the contest finals, the Badger Aires of Madison were named first and Mrs. Joseph Blazek, 1224 W. Glendale Ave., was the Jefferson County Chorus won the chorus competition. The chorus will compete in Toronto, Canada, in June of 1963 for the international chorus championship.

At the P.R.O.B.E. (Public Release) from St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday.

Besides questioning Bartmann, Kemps said he and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer plan to question six other persons concerning the accident.

Kimberly Will Add Creative Writing Class

Teachers Plan to Initiate Course In Next Semester

KIMBERLY — Teachers at Kimberly High School are preparing for addition of a creative writing class to the school curriculum next semester as part of the studies enrichment program.

It is hoped the course will stimulate and enrich the lives of students by making them more aware of the world in which they live. About 15 students are expected to enroll in the course to be taught by Miss Alice Sucharda.

At the conclusion of the course, students will publish a booklet containing various types of writing learned throughout the course. This booklet will be available for study by students who may desire to take the course in future years.

Teachers feel it is necessary for students to have a sharp awareness and to be able to analyze character in order to do creative writing. Thus students will be required to define and clarify their goals in all written materials and to keep notebooks to record observations and ideas.

Main reference source for the course will be "Warriner's Advanced Composition" plus much supplementary material. Students will be required to write poetry, plays, fables, essays, effective book reports, character sketches, biographies, autobiographies, short stories and research papers.

At the conclusion of the course, a study will be made to determine the effectiveness in the course of creating better students, increasing vocabulary, sharpening interests and transfer of skills learned to other subjects. This study will help in determining the value of the curriculum enrichment program.

Permit Issued To Build Shop For Lift Trucks

KAUKAUNA — A building permit to construct a 40 by 60-foot block building in an area zoned as heavy industrial was granted Robert Nack, route 1, Hyland Avenue.

The single story structure will be 16-foot high and cost an estimated $12,000. It will house a repair shop and sales rooms for lift and fork trucks for the Milwaukee Engine and Equipment Company. Nack will operate the new establishment. He currently owns and operates a service station adjacent to the new structure.

General contractor for the project is George Noie while Jack Fleweger, Appleton, is architect.

A permit to construct a 34 by 40-foot addition to the Rose Rest Home was granted Richard Rose, 1212 Oakridge Ave. The addition will include a basement and will cost an estimated $10,000. The owner plans to handle most of the construction.

Winnebago County Votes Food Plan

OSHKOSH — Support of the county's entry into the surplus commodities program for relief and low income families was voiced by the Winnebago County Board this morning in a 41 to 9 vote.

The vote was taken on a "gentleman's agreement" to indicate to the welfare committee whether the county board members were in support of such a program. A resolution calling for participation and appropriation of $15,700 was returned to the welfare committee for rewording.

The resolution is to be divided into several separate resolutions concerning personnel and equip-

Andersen Has Slender Lead In Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)— Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen held a slim but steady lead today as returns trickled in from Tuesday's Minnesota election.

Andersen, at one time seemingly destined for defeat by Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, forged into the lead early this morning in a race that will be decided by one of the smallest margins in state election history.

Returns from 3,300 of 3,796 precincts gave Andersen 547,456, Rolvaag 539,402.

An early flood of Democratic period and then deciding if the county should continue.

votes gave Rolvaag a lead of nearly 30,000 votes at one point in the counting late Tuesday night.

Andersen, 53, is after his second term—which for the first time will be for four years.

Meanwhile, one congressional race remained in doubt today.

In the biggest surprise, GOP veteran Walter Judd went down to defeat at the hands of Donald M. Fraser, 38-year-old Minneapolis attorney and two-term state senator. Fraser campaigned vigorously as an all-out backer of President Kennedy.

Medical Students Join Castro's Armed Force

ported by the Soviets and Chinese.

Helble discussed the government of South Viet Nam. He noted the country has a constitution and holds elections.

"Nevertheless, to be perfectly frank, the country is a dictatorship," he added.

It has never known democracy.

"But now at war I think it is unreasonable for us to think they should move forward in the direction of democracy," he said.

"As much as we would like to be supporting a democratic region in South Viet Nam, it is too much to hope for at this time."

Why do the peasants put up with the communists? . . . Why don't they fight? Helble asked.

Reasons for this, he noted, include an 85 per cent rural population. "They have never known any loyalty to the government in Saigon. They don't know who or what it is." They never knew there was a power higher than that of head of a family, he said.

Helble said peasants are "extremely poor." The per capita income is less than $100 a year. "They live from hand to mouth."

"They don't have much to lose no matter who wins."

Adjusting

"They must adjust to whatever pressure is closest in order to survive," he said.

Our problem, he said, is "to give the people both the will and means to defend themselves."

He said the United States has tried to give them better communications, training, transportation and arms in order to bring this about.

The results of the military have been good, he said. However, he noted that progress has been slow in other areas.

Reason for slow progress in some areas was explained. "What is most important to the peasant is whether he has a little more rice in his bowl tomorrow, whether his sick child will live." The United States is helping with supplies of medicine, training and food, Helble said.

Outlines History

Helble explained geographical features of the nation and outlined its history. He presented slides of the countryside to illustrate his talk.

Helble, 28, a 1952 graduate of Appleton High School, is a political science graduate from the University of Wisconsin. He was with the State Department in Venezuela for two years.

For the past 15 months he has been stationed at Hue, South Viet Nam, as consul. He was given the meritorious service award in 1960 for the part he played with "services above and beyond the call of duty" in an incident when the South Viet Nam presidential palace was bombed.

Helble indicated he has been under fire in South Viet Nam several times. He pointed out that casualties are 600 to 1,000 each week for both sides. He said, however, he is delighted to have the opportunity to "stick my neck out and go back."

State Officials to Help In Intersection Plan

State highway commission officials will cooperate with the City of Appleton to improve the flow of traffic at the Memorial Drive-Prospect Avenue intersection.

L. W. Empey, district engineer for the commission, has notified City Clerk Elden Broehm that a state traffic engineer has been assigned to confer with city officials on the matter.

The city and state hopes to improve traffic signals and turning movements at the intersections.

'Unusual Things'

Some Machines Goof, But Votes Unaltered

Gremlins apparently crept into some of the city's voting machines Tuesday.

However, City Clerk Elden Broehm gave assurance today that it didn't affect the vote outcome.

"We did notice a few unusual things when the return sheets came in from the polling places and I have requested they be checked out," Broehm said.

For example, in the 17th Ward the sheet appeared to show that 40 votes had been cast for the Democratic candidate for district attorney. There was no such candidate. The Republican incumbent was running unopposed.

It has been theorized that the lever should have been locked so it could not have been pulled down.

Reports were that the First, Fifth and Seventh Ward polling sites had machines that were "acting up."

Couldn't Check

Joseph Schoenhaar, election machine superintendent, said at noon that he did not have a chance to check out some of the machines

Elks District Deputy To Conduct Annual Inspection Thursday

KAUKAUNA — The annual inspection by James Boex, Green Bay district deputy, will be made following a dinner meeting of the Elks Lodge at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Elk Clubrooms.

Local officers will hold initiation of new candidates and programs and activities for the year will be outlined. Discussion will be held on a dinner dance to be sponsored by the Lodge following the Green Bay Packer - Colt football game Nov. 18.

Planner Will Set Program

improvement program, which had been prepared by the public works department, is "out of date."

The council realized this last week when it decided to set aside the sixth draft and "borrow" one year from the taxpayers' program and then have the consulting firm pick it up from there.

"We do not have a complete listing of future projects and major equipment items that will be needed by your city during the next five as well as 20 years," Schellie said. He scheduled a meeting today with officials from the department of public works, street-sanitation departments and park board to discuss their long-term needs, including expansion projects.

Schellie said it is planned by his firm to suggest a priority listing for projects that will cover all future needs of the city until 1985. He informed the group that emphasis will be on the six-year program.

In projecting future school needs, aldermen suggested the consultant confer with the board of education.

Conference Urged

It was the general feeling of Mayor Clarence Mitchell, aldermen and department heads in attendance, that Schellie should put together "a package covering 1964 through 1969." Once this is completed, the matter will be considered by the entire common council.

Extension of sanitary sewers and streets in future years in the outlying areas of the city was discussed at length by Schellie and city officials. The importance of regional planning and cooperation among communities was stressed.

Schellie suggested a thoroughfare authority may be necessary to obtain right-of-ways for future streets. This would insure orderly expansion and development.

"It will take aggressive action," Schellie said, "and I think you people have a big responsibility."

Need Coordination

Aldermen said they did not want to interfere with the planning of other communities, prompting Schellie to declare: "That is why we have regional planning because there is a need for coordination."

It was suggested by the consultant that newly proposed plans be checked thoroughly to see how they fit in with the laying out of future thoroughfares.

"Your city planner has been doing a very good job in calling certain things to our attention," Charles Zahn, a member of Schellie's staff, told the group.

Updating of the city's zoning code was listed as a necessity by Schellie, who was informed that the plan commission has been holding a series of weekly meetings to compile a list of proposed revisions.

Rep. John W. Byrnes and Mrs. Byrnes stopped off at Outagamie County Republican headquarters at the Conway Hotel during the vote counting Tuesday evening. Death Query Fails to Stem Republican Vote

Fond du Lac Voters Elect GOP Man Over Democrat as District Attorney

FOND DU LAC — Residents of this traditionally Republican stronghold elected a new district attorney Tuesday, capping a campaign which had the reopening of a mysterious death case as one of the underlying issues.

District Attorney Donald R. Marcille, the lone Democrat officeholder in the entire county government by virtue of an appointment by Gov. Nelson last summer, was defeated in his bid for election by Tom Massey, 27, a Republican political newcomer and native of Green Bay.

Investigation

Massey, who recently graduated from Marquette University Law School and started a practice here, topped Marcille, 14,027 to 8,236. Massey is the son of Fond du Lac County Agent George F. Massey.

In recent weeks, Marcille pressed for further investigation by the sheriff's department into the May 22 death of LeRoy Sommers, a Fond du Lac cheese company executive. A coroner's inquest in July declared that Sommers took his own life.

Sheriff Leo J. Treleven, a Republican, contended the case was closed. Last week Marcille claimed to have new evidence, a tape recording on which an ex-convict named Sommers' would-be killer. "The informant had made several telephone calls to Mrs. Sommers indicating he knew who killed her husband."

At first, Treleven balked at questioning the two men as ordered in a written directive from Marcille. After a two day "battle of statements" last week between the district attorney and sheriff, Treleven called the informer and alleged suspect to the Safety Building for interrogation.

After talking to both men, Treleven announced over the weekend that he still considered the Sommers' case closed.

No Comment

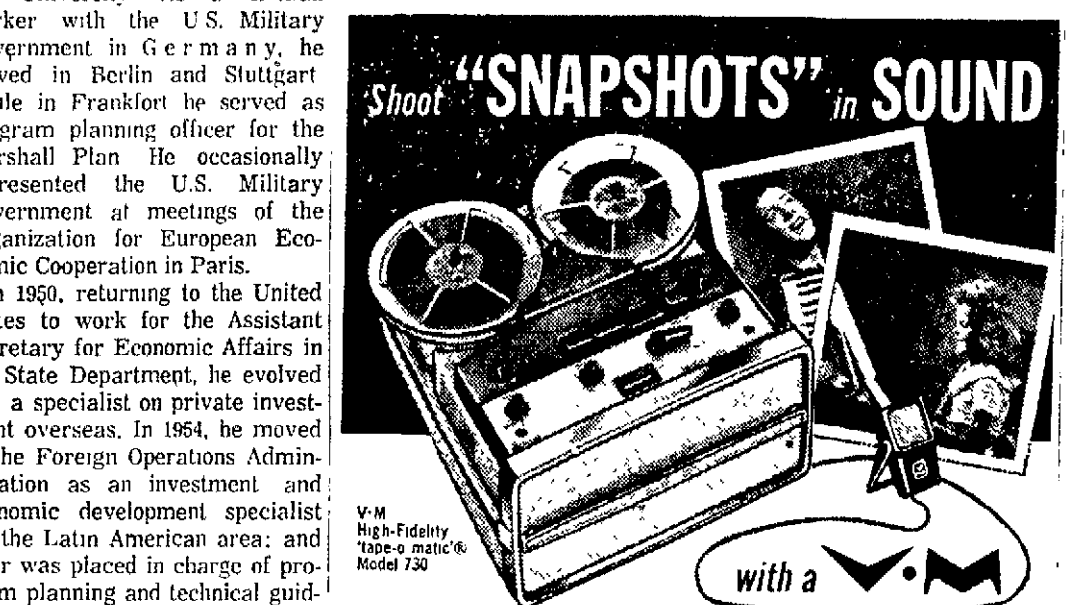

Marcille withheld comment, indicating he had nothing to say until receiving a written report from the sheriff.

In recent weeks, Treleven contended the district attorney was "electioneering", while Marcille charged the sheriff's office with "bungling the Sommers' investigation right from the beginning."

Case Not Closed?

Although the sheriff considers the case closed, the state attorney general's office apparently deems otherwise. George B. Schwahn, an assistant attorney general, Tuesday asked Fond du Lac County authorities for a report on the investigation into the death of the Italian cheese producer. Schwahn said it was a routine inquiry.

Over the weekend, Marcille was and, a Republican, defeated Wilcox with local and state law enforcement officials when they raided time city policeman, 15,503 to a downtown tavern, confiscated 6 874 for the sheriff's post.

Reynolds Out Shaking Hands At Plant Gates

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Governor-elect John W. Reynolds, who spent most of Tuesday night trying to find out whether he would be the governor-elect carried on a growing Wisconsin Democratic tradition by today's early light with the help of the man who started the whole thing.

Dawn found Reynolds, his wife, and the newly senior Sen. William Proxmire at the plant gates of the American Motors Corp.—shaking hands with employees as they went in to work.

Proxmire, a weathered veteran of many dawns at many plant gates during earlier campaigns, suddenly won other Democrats to his cause in 1957, when he was the upset winner of a special election to pick a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. R Wis.

Proxmire was reelected in 1958, and by the 1960 presidential primary campaign not only Sen. Hubert Humphrey but members of then-Sen. John F. Kennedy's entourage adopted the plant gate approach to Wisconsin voters.

Reynolds Issues Statement After Cinching Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrat John W. Reynolds, an apparent 12,000-vote winner over Republican Philip G. Kuehn for governor, said today the decision "demonstrates that Wisconsin is a two-party state."

"The decision also renews my faith in the people of Wisconsin who have made this decision despite the financial interests arrayed against me," Reynolds said in a statement.

"Philip Kuehn and I differed sharply on the issues in this campaign," Reynolds said. "I respect him for fighting as hard for his point of view as I did mine."

"Let me assure every citizen of Wisconsin that I am fully cognizant of the responsibilities of governor and that I will do all in my power to fulfill these responsibilities."

Reynolds thanked all voters who have expressed confidence in the Church will hold a potluck sup on the program committee.

Democrats Add 2 Seats in Senate

Control Continues With Margin Of 64-36 Likely for Next Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats added at least two seats to their current 64-36 Senate margin today and were leading in the only two races still to be decided from Tuesday's election.

Victories in those two contests would give the Democrats a 68-32 margin over the Republicans. Seats in Alabama and Alaska remained in the undecided category.

Increase Margins

Six seats held by Republicans in the last session—in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, New Hampshire, South Dakota and Wisconsin — were captured by Democrats. Republicans picked up Democratic seats in Colorado and Wyoming.

The Democratic margin was increased by late returns from Washington state and South Dakota. The veteran Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., defeated Richard G. Christensen and George McGovern, former Food for Peace director, ousted Joe H. Bottom, R-S.D., who was appointed to succeed the late Sen. Francis Case.

The Senate generally gave a more favorable reception to President Kennedy's program in the last two years than the House. It was the Senate which turned down Kennedy's Social Security health care plan this year, a proposal he has pledged to resubmit in January.

Senate Democratic members felt that a switch of one vote would have given them a victory on this measure last summer.

One new administration supporter in the Senate will be the President's youngest brother, 30-year-old Edward M. Kennedy.

Supper Planned

SHERWOOD — The St. Ann's Altar Society of Sacred Heart Church will hold a potluck supper at 7 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. J. Hill throughout the count. The Democratic club Mueller, Mrs. Hilary Miller Democrat has been in the Senate since 1938; before that he served 14 years in the House.

Winnebago County Votes GOP Sweep

Wiley Beats Nelson by 5,254 Votes

OSHKOSH — Sen. Alexander Wiley received the endorsement of Winnebago County in Tuesday's elections, receiving 19,275 votes which was 5,254 more than received by his successful opponent, Gov. Gaylord Nelson. The governor's vote in the county was 14,221.

Being an off-year, Sen. Wiley's vote was down considerably from that he tabulated in the Presidential election year of 1956 when he received 27,062 votes to 12,794 for the Democratic candidate, Henry W. Maier, now mayor of Milwaukee.

Wiley won in the 16 towns, 4-572 to 2,231 for Nelson; in the Village of Winnebago, 314 to 173; in Omro, 380 to 174; in Neenah, 4,178 to 2,342; and in Oshkosh, 7,898 to 6,560, but lost in Menasha, 1,933 to 2,681 votes for Nelson.

The four-term senator trailed the rest of the Republican ticket in the county but was only 225

Society Sets Toy Sale Date

Mrs. William Strange announced the annual Christmas toy sale of Neenah-Menasha Emergency Society, Inc. will be held on Dec. 6 at the thrift shop. The announcement was made at the society's Monday meeting at Mrs. Carl Marty's home, 777 Elm St. Members have been asked to donate good used toys and gift items for the sale.

Mrs. Charles Davis reported that society members had worked a total of 4,471 hours during the past year. Mrs. James Asmuth, chairman of the finance committee, announced Mrs. Robert Aik will serve as chairman of the nearly new sale with Mrs. Hugh Moore as assistant chairman.

Mrs. Robert Mosher said seven children were treated at a Neenah dental clinic in October. Drivers were Mrs. Asmuth and Mrs. Nicholas Gilbert.

The Dec. 3 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Morvotes behind the governor candidate Philip Kuehn. Rep. William K. Van Pelt of Fond du Lac outpolled John Race, Democratic candidate from Fond du Lac, by 7,592 votes. Van Pelt's total was 20,235 county votes while that for Race was 12,643 votes.

State Senator From Neenah Wins Election

Draheim Carries Rural Precincts, Town Vote, 3-1

OSHKOSH — State Sen. William A. Draheim of Neenah swept to a fourth term Tuesday by an overwhelming vote majority over his Democratic opponent, Herbert Pitz of Oshkosh.

Draheim's total was 24,277 for both Winnebago and Calumet counties while Pitz polled 16,185 votes. The incumbent's margin in Winnebago county was 20,027 to 12,952. In Calumet county, Draheim led 4,250 to 2,243.

In 1958, when the same two candidates squared off, Draheim's margin of victory was 21,993 to 16,968 in a smaller voter turnout.

Sen. Draheim carried every precinct in the rural areas plus Neenah, Omro and Winnebago. His margin in the 17 town precincts was almost 3-1. Pitz carried only Menasha, the Democratic stronghold in the county. There his lead was only 177 votes, 2,352 to 2,175. Draheim carried the Second and Third Wards of Menasha.

In Oshkosh, Pitz, who represents the city's Fourth Ward on the county board, ran somewhat stronger than in the rest of the county, trailing Draheim, 7,861 to 6,348.

In two of the towns, Rushford and Utica, Draheim's margin exceeded 4-1.

Lawrence College Professor to Speak

MENASHA — Prof. Donald Lemke of Lawrence College department of education will speak on elementary education abroad and in this country and what the Day School offers the community at a 7:30 p.m. Thursday program at Winnebago Day School.

Kuehn Wins, But Gets Poor Edge

OSHKOSH — Republicans scored a clean sweep of all state offices in Winnebago County balloting Tuesday but Philip Kuehn who apparently lost the state-wide test, trailed the rest of the state ticket in the county.

Kuehn led his Democratic opponent John Reynolds, 19,500 to 14,129 in Winnebago County but the rest of the ticket did even better.

Jack Olson outpolled David Carley, 19,649 to 12,994; in the lieutenant governor's race; for secretary of state, veteran Robert Zimmerman topped Gerald Humphrey, 20,511 to 12,176; Treas. Dena Smith had a 20,263 total to 12,339 for John Schneider, and George Thompson outpolled former Neenah resident William Evans, 19,692 to 12,274 in the attorney general race.

Socialist Labor Party candidate Adolf Wiggert got 44 votes in the county, 30 coming from Oshkosh.

While the magic names of Zimmerman and Smith led the ticket as expected, the surprising part was Kuehn's also taking a back-seat to Olson and newcomer Thompson.

Zimmerman and Smith showed their greatest strength in the rural areas and while Reynolds had his greatest support numerically in Oshkosh he carried only two wards.

In Menasha, Reynolds carried all but the Third Ward which the Republicans swept.

Three Drivers Fined For Striking Parked Cars in Three Crashes

MENASHA — Three male drivers from the Fox Cities area who inflicted damage on parked cars were fined at least $20 each when they appeared before Judge Arthur Ales in Menasha Municipal Justice Court this morning.

They were Harold C. Boche, 35, route 2, Appleton, who was fined a total of $103 for involvement in a hit and run mishap with a parked car at 11:30 p.m. Friday at 830 Racine St.; Joseph L. Landry, 68, 410 Third St., Menasha, who was fined $20 for inattentive driving after his vehicle struck a car parked in front of 409 Third St. at 5:50 p.m. Tuesday; and Wayne H. Nofke, 22, 709 Lincoln St., Menasha, who was fined $25 for inattentive driving. His car struck two parked vehicles at 9:50 p.m. Tuesday on Eighth Street near the Appleton Street intersection.

Winnebago GOP Votes Win County, Assembly Positions

3 Elected Have Served Prior to '62

NEENAH — The three Republican assemblymen from Winnebago County were returned to their state capitol posts by voters Tuesday, two of them for their second term and the third for his third term.

David Martin won by 2,831 votes over Rufin Skiba, Democratic candidate and Twin City labor leader. Vote totals were 7,883 for Martin and 5,052 for Skiba. Both are from Neenah.

Martin took each of the 10 Neenah wards, the Second and Third Wards in Menasha and the Towns of Neenah and Menasha.

In the Second Assembly District contest, Herman Brandt, Democratic candidate, captured two of the traditional Oshkosh Democratic wards, the Sixth and 13th, but lost the other two Oshkosh wards, the 14

Council Will Be Called on For Ad Policy

Police Group Asks Advertising for Safety Publication

The Appleton Common Council will be called upon soon to make a policy decision on whether to purchase advertisements in non-municipal publications.

The Wisconsin County Police Deputy Sheriffs and Radio Operators Assn. has sent a letter to Mayor Clarence Mitchell and the common council requesting the city to run an ad in its annual safety publication, "The Wisconsin County Traffic Police".

Rates for the advertisements were outlined by Harvey J. LaMere, Milwaukee, a representative of the association. One full page would cost $100; a half page, $60; and a quarter page, $35.

Letter Read
LaMere's letter read in part: "This letter contains the details of our request made to you last week when Officer Stanley Arnold of the Outagamie County Traffic Police and I were in your office. "Our request was for an ad for the City of Appleton in our yearly Safety Publication, the Wisconsin County Traffic Police. This is a statewide organization and Outagamie County members are 100 per cent.

"Our publication goes to press in late November and so that I might be certain of the placing of this ad, I would suggest that you make your reply direct to me."

LaMere also mentioned in his letter that the association's convention will be held in Appleton on Sept. 17, 18 and 19, 1963. The Outagamie and Calumet county traffic police departments will be co-hosts.

Common Council Mayor Mitchell Indicated Tuesdays That He Will Take The Request For An Advertisement With The Common Council

"If the ad is for a convention program book, then we will probably go along with it," Mitchell said.

"However, if it is an annual publication of the organization then the answer should be 'no,'" Mitchell declared.

Mitchell said he had no knowledge as to whether the city purchased advertisements in past publications of the Wisconsin County Police Deputy Sheriffs and Radio Operators Association.

Stolen Gold Watch Found in Appleton

NEENAH — The woman's gold wrist watch, stolen from the home of Mrs. John J. Hohler, 615 E. Forest Ave., Neenah, was recovered Tuesday by Neenah police. An Appleton woman, after reading an article about the break-in at the Hohler home in Monday night's Post-Crescent, called Neenah police Tuesday to say she had found the watch in a driveway on W. College Avenue last Friday.

Still missing are a mink scarf, portable television set, transistor radio and some cameras. The break-in was discovered Thursday night when Mrs. Hohler and her children returned from a trip to Chicago. The house was entirely ransacked.

Incumbent Sheriff Richard T. Lowell Tops Republicans

OSHKOSH — Republicans swept into each of the Winnebago County offices by margins ranging from 10,000 to 14,000 votes. Only one new face will appear for the swearing in ceremony in late December and that is Arthur Miller who was elected coroner to succeed Dr. George A. Steele who is retiring after more than a quarter-century in that office.

The largest vote was polled by Sheriff Richard T. (Bud) Lowell in his second bid for that office. He received 24,163 votes to 10,057 for his Democratic party opponent, Frank Selz.

Unopposed in the election was Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber who received 22,797 votes. He has held that post since April of 1957 when he was appointed by Gov. Vernon Thomson after serving as assistant district attorney. He won in the 1958 and 1960 elections.

County Clerk Nell A. Hoffmann, who was named to that post in 1948, was reelected to her eighth term in that office, receiving 21,777 votes to 9,380 for James F. Witkowski.

A second term also was won by County Treasurer Frank Luedeker who collected 21,667 votes

St. Louis Educator Lectures on Poetry

Differentiates Man From Beast, Claims Teacher

NEENAH — "If music is the most direct expression of human emotions, then poetry is one of those things that differentiate man from beast," said Dr. Ed. Taylor, headmaster of first of four Pulitzer Prizes for The Taylor School in St. Louis.

Dr. Taylor, who spent a week of the season of Woman's Tuesdays in the little New Hampshire town, where Dr. Taylor was raised, "Much has been those things that differentiate man from beast," said Dr. Ed. Taylor, headmaster of first of four Pulitzer Prizes for The Taylor School in St. Louis.

Illustrating his point with lines from "The Death of the Hired Man," "Home is the place where, when you have to go, they have to take you in. I should have called it something or other, like a frisky colt during the first snowfall of the year. Undermy-world in Russia are Robert Frost have written that, said Dr. Taylor, admitting Frost was born in a grand time, but Frost insisted, the colt was frightened because it had never seen snow before. "And that's how 'The Runaway' came to be written."

Mending Walls
Commenting on "Mending Walls," Dr. Taylor said, "I knew the farmer Frost was talking about and he never did say what Frost said he did. He couldn't, because he was a French Canadian and didn't speak English."

Adding that this was the poem which Frost read to Khrushchev during his recent visit to Russia, Dr. Taylor said the lines, "Before I built a wall I'd ask to know what I was walling in or walling out. And to whom I was like to give offense," must have had immediate meaning for Khrushchev.

Giving his observations on a recent trip to Russia, Dr. Taylor said he discovered the best paid and most respected people in Russia are school teachers. "I talked to one chemistry professor who was making three times as much as a teacher as he could in industry."

"Another thing I found out was that the Russians read poetry and they read it aloud. The most popular poets of the Western world in Russia are Robert Frost and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow," he said.

High Court May Clear School Prayer Issue

BY JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court may clear up by next July some of the confusion over what prayers, if any, may be said in public schools or whether Bible verses may be read in the classrooms.

Those questions were not answered in last June's historic decision declaring unconstitutional a prayer supplied by state officials for use in New York State public schools. Many people interpreted this as an outright ban on prayer in the schools and it brought one of the angriest public outcries the court has faced in recent years.

A few weeks ago Justice Tom C. Clark departed from the custom of justices not commenting on the court's rulings and expressed dismay at what he called misunderstanding. All the court decided, he said, was that government cannot take part in the establishment of religion. It was a 6-1 decision and Clark joined in the majority view.

Emotion Laden
The high tribunal agreed this week to tackle once more this emotion-laden issue of separation of church and state. Specifically, the court will hear sometime in the months ahead appeals from two lower court decisions.

One appeal is by Pennsylvania officials from a decision by a three-judge federal court that state law requiring Bible reading in public schools violates the U.S. Constitution.

The other appeal is by an atheist mother of an atheist son who contends that a Baltimore, Md., school board regulation calling for opening of school each day with Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer is unconstitutional. Both the Philadelphia and the Baltimore practices have been attacked despite the fact that children are not required to participate. They may be excused with written permission from a parent or guardian.

'Loss of Caste'
Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, whose son William J. Murray III is now in the 11th grade in Baltimore, told the court in her appeal that her son's non-participation in the exercise caused him "loss of caste" with his fellows, (he was) regarded with aversion, and subjected to reproach and insult.

The board's rule says "each school, either collectively or in classes, shall be opened by the reading, without comment, of a chapter in the Holy Bible and or the use of the Lord's Prayer. The Douay (Catholic) version may be used by those children who prefer it. . . .

This is somewhat similar to the Pennsylvania law, which reads: "At least 10 verses from the Holy Bible shall be read without comment at the opening of each public school on each school day.

Any child shall be excused from such Bible reading or attending such Bible reading upon the written request of his parent or guardian."

It is the custom in many Pennsylvania schools to follow the Bible reading with recitation of the Lord's Prayer. The special three-judge court did not rule on the validity of this prayer recitation, commenting that this was not covered by the state law under attack.

Edward L. Schempp, a Unitarian living in a Philadelphia suburb, brought the suit on behalf of his children, who attended Abington Township High School.

Pennsylvania and Abington officials, in appealing, said: "It is of paramount importance to the parents and teachers of this nation to have the Supreme Court determine whether the Constitution requires that none of the students shall be allowed to listen to the Bible being read without comment simply because one family, whose children need not attend the reading, do not want others to listen."

The answers to these appeals could have a greater impact across the nation than even last June's decision which focused on the New York prayer.

The answers to these appeals could have a greater impact across the nation than even last June's decision which focused on the New York prayer.

The high tribunal threw more confusion into the issue of separation of church and state this week in refusing to review a decision that Oregon may not provide free text books to church schools. This didn't mean, however, that the court necessarily agreed with the Oregon Supreme Court in its reasoning or conclusions.

Sharp Contrasts
But, without comment, the justices let stand a decision that contrasts sharply with a 1930 Supreme Court decree upholding the Louisiana law which provides for non-religious textbooks free to children in church-run schools as well as public schools.

The Oregon ruling also contrasts sharply with a 1947 Supreme Court decision upholding legislation in New Jersey providing bus transportation for parochial school pupils.

There have been two other major Supreme Court rulings dealing with the question of schools in recent years. One was that religious instruction on public school property during released time violates the Constitution. The other was that it is not unconstitutional religious instruction off school when students are released for property during school hours.

9 College Sailors Drown in Japan Race

TOKYO (AP) — Nine college sailors were missing and presumed drowned today after two boats disappeared in a race on turbulent Sagami Bay, southwest of Tokyo.

Ten collegians from Waseda and Keio universities were in the two boats. The body of the 10th student was recovered.

Forty-three boats competed in the race Saturday. Five finished the stormy course.

Whatever oil-change interval is recommended for your car —this is the best engine life insurance you can buy, and at no extra cost!

Manufacturers of 1962 and 1963 model cars recommend as many as 4,000 to 6,000 miles between oil changes. This is a grueling test for even the best motor oils. And it's a test that Conoco All-Season Super Motor Oil has passed...on the road...with flying colors.

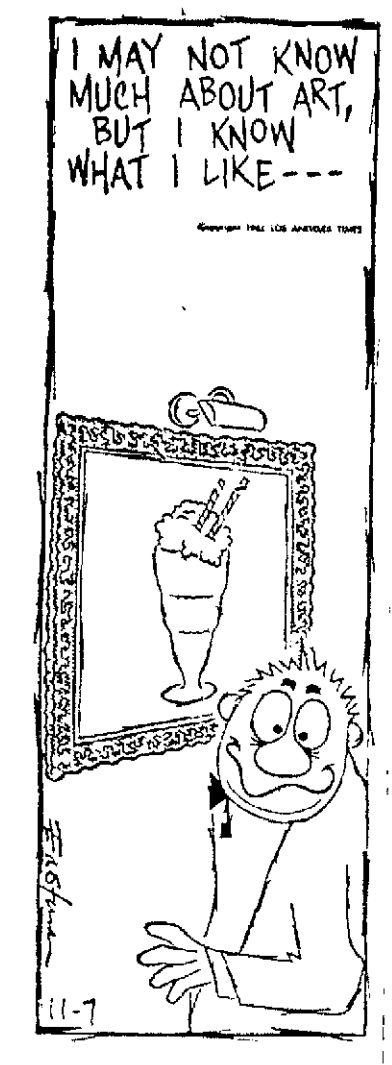

What does this mean if you own a pre-1962 car? Simply this. Now you can go the maximum number of miles between oil changes recommended for your own car by its manufacturer, with complete safety. In summer and in winter. In slow-moving traffic or at high turn-pike speeds hour after hour.

New Conoco All-Season Super Motor Oil has just been improved for the 5th time in recent years. The combination of these major improvements add up to the best life insurance money can buy for an engine. Yet you pay not one penny more...it's another value from your Conoco dealer, a friendly neighbor you can count on.

You can count on CONOCO ...hottest brand going!

Maybe He Should Have Taken Subway

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A husband suing for divorce charged his wife with extreme cruelty and said she once "upbraided him because he could not find a place to park in New York City."

Morris Koltunovsky, 47, of Miami, filed the suit against his wife, the former Betty Salvage of Brooklyn, N.Y. They were married last November.

Recount Hinted as Reynolds Beats Kuehn; Nelson Defeats Sen. Wiley

Democrats Retain Congress Control By Heavy Majority

Nixon Loses in California Campaign for Governorship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats won continued top-heavy control of Congress in Tuesday's elections and whipped Richard M. Nixon in California, but Republicans snatched the governorships of New York, Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania—bastions of power for the 1964 presidential contest.

The congressional lineup on the basis of counting in mid-morning today shaped up in this fashion: Senate: 65 Democrats and 32 Republicans; two races undetermined, but Democrats leading in both. In the present Congress, Senate Democrats have a 64-36 margin.

House: 244 Democrats and 169

GOP Holds Own In Fox Cities House Battles

Byrnes, Laird and Van Pelt Win Seats For Republicans

Contrary to what happened to Republicans running in the two major state races, three veteran GOP congressmen in the Fox Cities area easily won re-election.

John Byrnes trounced Owen Monfils in the Eighth District, while Melvin Laird, in the Seventh District, and William K. Van Pelt, in the Sixth District, did the same to their Democratic opponents.

Republicans: Democrats leading in 17 contests still unsettled and Republicans in 5. In the present Congress there are 261 Democrats and 174 Republicans with two vacancies.

Help for Kennedy
For President Kennedy, the congressional outcome was a victory in that it bucked the tradition that the party in power normally loses a sizable block of congressional seats in off-year elections.

The President appeared also to have a strengthened hand in the Senate with the increased Democratic strength there and the addition of such warm supporters of his program as his brother, Edward (Ted) Kennedy, elected in Massachusetts, and former Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff, elected in Connecticut.

But the liberal vs. conservative division in the House, where Kennedy's legislative proposals have encountered their toughest going, apparently was little changed.

The balloting seemingly reflected no clear trend—except voter readiness to split tickets and cross party lines with abandon.

Kuchel Wins
While Nixon, the unsuccessful Republican presidential nominee against Kennedy in 1960, was being turned down for governor by California voters, they re-elected Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel.

There were similar mixed outcomes in other states.

A Democratic sweep in New England seemed geared to the landslide by which Kennedy won the Senate seat older brother John F. Kennedy gave up to become president. It left the Republicans in control of the governor's office only in Maine. And that contest was so close a recount might be ordered.

Vote on Personalities
There was ample evidence that the voters made their decisions on personalities rather than on overriding issues. For example, they elected a Republican governor and a Democratic senator in Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania. In Iowa, they chose a Democratic governor and a GOP senator. They picked a Republican governor in Michigan but elected a Democratic lieutenant governor and a Democrat to Congress in an at-large race.

Sub Insert
They upset GOP Sen. Homer E. Capehart in Indiana. Their candidate led in the battle for a Republican Senate seat in South Dakota.

Adenauer Hits Critics During Crisis Debate
BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today personally fought back at critics of his handling of the Der Spiegel affair in an uproarious session of parliament.

Flushed with anger and pounding his fist, the 86-year-old chancellor defended the government's action in the case that came close to wrecking his coalition cabinet.

An outbreak of shouting and whistling by deputies during the debate brought Adenauer into action. The aged chancellor denounced accusations his government used illegal methods in arresting the publisher and several editors of the newsmagazine for an article on West Germany's defenses.

Democrat Spice Nips Heinritz by 420 Votes for Outagamie Sheriff

Rockets Out, Says Nikita No Need to Have Summit Meeting, Khrushchev Said

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said today 40 Soviet rockets stationed in Cuba have been dismantled and "are probably already on their way," presumably to this country.

He confessed deep relief at easing the Cuban crisis but warned, in talking to reporters at a Kremlin reception marking the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, that some tensions remain.

The Soviet premier, however, seemed in a relaxed mood and appeared to be celebrating a relaxation of the Cuban tension.

"A hard policy is not always best," he told reporters in discussing conduct of foreign policy. "Flexibility is necessary."

"I was never in favor of a summit meeting," he told reporters at a Kremlin reception.

"If there were a situation where there was a question of peace or war, then, of course, we would be in favor of it," the Soviet leader said. "But now there is no such necessity."

Kaukauna Margin Decides Issue; GOP Incumbents Retain Posts

BY RAY FY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Calvin Spice, 38, a 15-year-veteran policeman in Outagamie County was named the new Outagamie County sheriff Tuesday in one of the most startling political upsets in modern day county politics.

Spice, a Democrat, defeated Outagamie County Undersheriff Donald J. Heinritz, 41, of Appleton, a Republican and former sheriff, by a narrow 420 vote margin—12,098 to 11,678.

Independent sheriff candidate George Else, 52, of Appleton, an Outagamie County traffic patrol sergeant, polled 6,021 votes. Spice was the only Democrat to win a county post. Five Republican county candidates won return to office by wide margins over Democratic opponents. Two Republican officials, Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and County Treasurer R. A. Bentz, were unopposed.

Spice thus became the first Democrat to win a major office in Outagamie County since 1938. Raymond P. Dohr, present county judge, was elected district attorney as a Democrat in 1936 and 1938. In 1940 he became a Republican because, he says, he disagreed with Franklin Roosevelt's "meddling with the courts." He was defeated for the GOP nomination by the late Judge Oscar J. Schmieg.

The last Democrat elected sheriff in Outagamie County was the late Martin Verhagen, who won in 1932.

For Spice, who campaigned hard following his primary victory over Democrat Ray J. Kelly, Appleton, in September, the victory was in his first try for a public office. In his campaign speeches this fall, Spice has spoken against the job of sheriff being a political office and has favored making the office appointive.

Hometown Support
Born in Kaukauna and receiving his first police experience as a patrolman in that city, Spice's victory was truly a hometown effort. He received hefty support from neighboring communities of Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks and adjoining towns.

Kaukauna's five wards gave Spice 2,760 votes to 640 for Heinritz and put Spice in the lead which Heinritz challenged but never overcame. Heinritz received a 7,363 to 4,300 margin in the 20 Appleton wards which he carried unanimously. Heinritz carried a total of 32 precincts and Spice carried 16. Else carried six precincts and two precincts ended in a tie between Else and Heinritz and Heinritz and Spice.

Spice's margin was narrowed to a low of 245 votes late in the evening's count with five precincts remaining, but surprising Spice support came from the town of

Highway Toll Rises as Three Killed in State

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of three elderly persons in one accident Tuesday raised Wisconsin's traffic fatality toll to 794, compared with 760 a year ago.

Oscar Sheek, 60, his 78-year-old wife, Lydia, and her brother, Clarence Noe, 68, all of Milwaukee, were killed Tuesday when their compact car and a gravel truck collided in Franklin, a Milwaukee suburb.

The driver of the truck, Gary Mayer, 19, told deputies he was driving northeast on West Forest Home Avenue when the accident occurred. The car was pushed 90 feet after the impact.

Pressure on to Oust Menon From Power

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Pressure mounted on Prime Minister Nehru today to drop his controversial close associate, V. K. Krishna Menon, from any role in India's defense against the Chinese Communist invades.

Non-Communist parties plan a mass demonstration against Menon when Parliament meets in emergency session Thursday to consider the military situation. They also will urge that the Communist party be outlawed.

Nehru demoted Menon from defense minister to minister of defense production on Oct. 31 in the political uproar that followed India's reverses in the Himalayan border war. Critics said Menon had failed to prepare adequately for the Chinese offensive.

Although Nehru himself took over the defense ministry, the onslaught against Menon continued. Signs increased that the border conflict may explode soon into a savage new fighting after a virtual lull for two weeks.

According to reports here, main Chinese drives are being prepared at Chushul, in the Ladakh area, in the western end of the front, and at Towang, in India's north-east, frontier region 850 miles to the east.

Issue Decided By Plurality In Milwaukee

Veteran Republican Defeated After 24 Years in Office

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson, a rising Democratic star with few debts to party leaders, turned back the bid of Sen. Alexander Wiley for an unprecedented fifth term Tuesday and won the seat the Senate's senior Republican has held for 24 years.

Nelson in 1960 became the first Democratic governor of Wisconsin to be re-elected in this century. He overcame an open split in the state party organization and a conspicuous lack of enthusiasm by the Kennedy administration to score a smashing victory.

With 3,487 of 3,525 precincts reporting, the vote was: Nelson, D., 648,332; Wiley, R., 583,256.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, who with State Chairman Patrick J. Lucey had campaigned hard for repeal of the sales tax adopted during Nelson's second administration, eked out a narrow victory over Republican Philip G. Kuehn in a contest for governor not decided until the last few precincts were counted today.

43 Counties for Wiley
The rest of the Democratic state ticket was swallowed up by the GOP.

Nelson's triumph was based solidly on his 60,000 vote plurality in Milwaukee, as Wiley carried 43 of the state's 72 counties. In a statement made when returns gave the first indication of victory, the governor said that "If I ran behind in the rural areas, satisfaction with farm prices."

Asked if he thought there was any indication in the out-state

Wiley

Before the final count revised Reynolds' Milwaukee County plurality over the Republican nominee upward by more than 17,000 votes, the Democratic attorney general and Democratic State Chairman Patrick J. Lucey made it clear to newsmen that if Reynolds lost he too would demand a recount.

The vote in 3,493 of 3,525 precincts, including all 706 in Milwaukee County, showed: Reynolds, D., 626,789; Kuehn, R., 614,422.

However, when informed of the Republican candidate's statement, Lucey said, "We might expect the Kuehn arrogance to display itself in some sort of poorer action. But if he wants a recount, that is his privilege."

Off-Year Record
The total vote surpassed the previous record turnout for an off-year election in Wisconsin—about 40,000 more than in 1958—and represented about 53 per cent of the eligible voters.

A major issue in the notably clear cut campaign was the question of how to raise additional revenue for state needs. Kuehn had campaigned hard for a general sales tax, and Reynolds bitterly opposed it. The positions were stated with increasing acrimony in the final stages of the contest.

Loss to Nelson Not Regarded as Defeat By Alexander Wiley

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin Republican who lost his bid for re-election to a fifth term Tuesday, said today he does not regard the results of the election as a defeat.

"One is only defeated when one admits defeat," Wiley said in a statement today. "Other opportunities will come to serve our great state and nation in the critical days ahead."

"In a world where the Pope has said it is peace or Hell and where communism is on the march, there will be plenty of opportunities for service to God and country for all who sense the challenge of this hour," Wiley said.

He added: "Mrs. Wiley joins me in expressing our gratitude to the selfless group of devoted helpers and over half a million people who wanted to continue me in office."

Margin of 12,000 for Democrat

BY DION HENDERSON
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrat John W. Reynolds survived a Republican blitz of the state ticket and edged Philip G. Kuehn for the Wisconsin governorship on the basis of unofficial returns in Tuesday's Election.

Reynolds, the state's attorney general, the past four years, defeated Kuehn by an apparent 12,000 votes, but the Republican candidate indicated he would demand a recount. The GOP captured other state offices.

A late-counted surge of Milwaukee County returns gave Reynolds the decision in unofficial totals, after Kuehn had held a 3,000 vote lead with only about a hundred districts out.

The Republican candidate said today in a brief statement: Kuehn, who had held a 3,600 vote lead with 61 Milwaukee County precincts still to be counted, said in a brief statement: "We expect to go over the figures very carefully, and to ask for a recount unless there are compelling reasons why we should not."

Thin Edge in Assembly

Republicans Keep Legislative Control

BY FRANK CREPEAU
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin's new Democratic governor, John W. Reynolds, will face a hostile Republican majority in both houses of the State Legislature during the 1963 session.

Tuesday's election enabled the GOP to strengthen its long-standing domination of the state Senate to a 22-11 margin and gave Republicans a water-thin majority in the Assembly.

2 More GOP Senators
And it is a good possibility the leadership of both houses will comprise supporters of Philip G. Kuehn, the man Reynolds beat in the sometimes bitter fight for the governorship.

The GOP managed to enlarge by two seats the 20-13 majority by which it controlled the Senate during the 1961 session. The party hung on to its eight contested seats, toppled Democrat Robert Dean of Wausau and installed a new GOP senator in the 23rd District seat vacated by Democrat Howard Cameron of Rice Lake.

Republican Charles F. Smith Jr., of Wausau beat Dean, the Democratic Senate floorleader in the 1961 session, by less than 2,000 votes and Holger B. Rasmussen, a Spooner Republican, won his bid to replace Cameron.

Assembly races saw 53 Republicans elected and 47 Democratic winners.

Outagamie Downs Proposal to Join With Waupaca

The Outagamie County education committee today voted against joining the county superintendent offices of Outagamie and Waupaca counties.

The jointure was proposed by state superintendent of public instruction Angus B. Rothwell.

Rothwell presided at a public hearing today of the two-county education committees at the Outagamie County courthouse. Rothwell said he will meet with the Waupaca educational committee to discuss possibilities of joining, with a different county or of appointing a superintendent. He said it may be possible to have someone from one of the areas still under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent to serve as superintendent.

The merger with Outagamie County was proposed after George Barber, former Waupaca superintendent, joined the Menominee school system as a curriculum director recently, leaving Waupaca with no superintendent.

Last year Winnebago County turned down a joint school superintendent with Waupaca County. Winnebago County had so little territory to be covered and couldn't agree on location of the office, so the proposal was dropped.

Menominees Go Democrat

Republicans Lose Majority in All But Two Ballots

KESHENA — Practically every adult resident of Menominee County turned out to vote Tuesday in a show of strength for the Democrats in the state's newest county.

In all, 575 voters cast ballots on the former Menominee Indian Reservation, which has a total population of 2,600 most of them tribal members.

With two exceptions, Democrats polled majorities in all of the ballot races.

Governor-elect John W. Reynolds, the Democrat, lost to Republican Philip Kuehn, 283 to 292. The protest vote against Reynolds was seen as Indian objections to an attorney general's opinion issued by Reynolds saying the Menominees must obey the state's hunting, fishing and trapping rules.

Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Marshfield, polled 304 votes in his bid for reelection to 262 for John Evans, a Wausau Democrat. Laird has taken a strong interest in Indian negotiations with the federal government over tribal termination, which went into effect on May 1, 1961.

Peters Polls 369

Incumbent Menominee County office holders, all Democrats appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to their first terms of office, won bids for reelection on their own in the first countywide general election.

Sheriff Wilmer Peters polled 369 votes to 164 for Republican Aloysius Frechette and 8 for Francis Leon, who ran as an independent.

County clerk George Bowan polled 345 votes to 201 for Allee Dodge, the Republican challenger. Bowan is the only non-Menominee on the county slate. A white man, he is married to a Menominee.

Treasurer Bruce Wilbur outpolled Erwin Besaw, 329 to 201, and Arnold Corn was renamed corner over Joseph White, 406, to 120. Polling complimentary votes were clerk of court Mary Grignon, 444, and register of deeds Lillian Plas, 437. Neither had opposition.

Election Day's Pretty Dull In Newsroom Until Polls Close

BY HARRY KURTZ

Election day is a dull day. Wait a minute — let's say that Election Day is a dull day until the polls close.

For instance, what does the Associated Press Photofax (that's the wire which brings news photos into the Post-Crescent's office) send on election day? It sends photos of candidates voting.

George Romney was the first candidate to come across the wire, rolling in at 8:20 a.m. Harry Truman made it a few minutes later, followed closely by Dwight David Eisenhower.

30,000 Ballots Cast

Ticket Splitting, Heavy Turnout Slows Outagamie Vote Count

Post-Crescent City Editor

You could hear the tickets splitting all over Outagamie County.

The election boards were later than usual in reporting returns, and that was the tipoff. It takes a lot longer to count the votes when there are fewer straight tickets.

The first return from Outagamie County did not reach the county clerk's office until 8:18 p.m. Tuesday. Normally, at least a precinct or two are in soon after 7 p.m. And there have been times when the first vote report came in as early as 5:20 p.m.

Outagamie County voters flocked to the polls in unprecedented numbers for an off-year election. At least 30,000 ballots were cast, compared with about 17,600 in the September primary election and 27,000 in the last comparable election in 1958.

The record turnout occurred in November, 1960, when more than 41,450 ballots were cast in Outagamie County. That turnout was in the presidential election which followed personal visits by both presidential candidates to the Fox Cities in the year preceding the election.

There were 15,685 votes cast in the Outagamie County portion of Appleton Tuesday and 14,402 votes in the rest of the county. The Second Precinct of the Ninth Ward, in Calumet County, cast 428 votes, bringing the Appleton total to 16,113.

For the first time in a long time, the Democrats had a representative in the Post-Crescent newsroom while the votes were being tabulated. William Cherkasky, who, along with perhaps half a dozen others carried the heavy burden of campaign organization and work for the Democrats, came around late in the evening to watch the tabulating.

Cherkasky, like everyone else, was keeping a close tab on the sheriff race and was predicting victory a bit quicker than some of the others.

The cheering rattled the receiver when Calvin Spice's Democratic headquarters was informed by telephone that the Heinritz brothers were on their way to Kaukauna to concede with four precincts still unreported. Spice held a 404-vote margin at the time.

William Rogers, Kaukauna Democrat making his first try for office, found it a little hard to believe he had won the Second District Assembly seat. Rogers held a substantial lead with 10 precincts still unreported, but they were in traditionally heavy Republican areas—including the home territory of his GOP opponent, Incumbent Marvin Babbitt, and Rogers still was concerned.

"I'm serious," Rogers protested. "How does it look for me?"

The sheriff had defeated the traffic officer in the Republican primary and currently is in a struggle for control of the traffic department with him. A hearing on the matter was reopened and has been scheduled for December.

In other Shawano County voting Mike Eberlien seeking his first term as District Attorney in place of his brother, Fritz, on the Republican ticket edged Gresham attorney, Kenneth Traeger, 5,393 to 4,538.

Area Votes 'Yes' on Each Referendum

Fox Cities area voters concurred with the rest of the state in approving the four referenda on the ballot Tuesday.

Approved was a major constitutional revision to count untaxed Indians for reapportionment purposes, approving making the county executive officer in Milwaukee County a constitutional officer and giving him veto power, and allowing Wisconsin residents who move out of the state, the right to vote by absentee ballot after leaving the state.

In Outagamie County, the Indian referendum was approved 10,732 to 4,477, the county executive, 8,524 to 5,977, the veto power 8,509 to 5,740 and election 10,160 to 4,098.

In Calumet County, the first referendum was approved 2,848 to 1,658, the second, 2,147 yes and 2,005, no; the third, 2,198 yes and 1,867, no; and the fourth carried 2,786 to 1,316.

Waupaca County voters approved the first referendum 4,944 to 2,409; the second was approved 3,662 to 2,987; the third was backed 3,789 to 2,834 and the fourth was okayed 4,785 to 2,150.

The Winnebago and Shawano county totals on the referenda were not available at press time.

Elected Treasurer on the Republican ticket defeating Fred Laehn 6,937 to 2,831.

Waupaca Cage Team Does Not Lack Height

Coach Predicts Leading Teams of State Conference

WAUPACA — The Waupaca High School basketball team will have more than its share of height this year. Coach Al Schlatter Monday told members of the Downtown Coaches Club.

At the forward positions will be Doug Kolb and Brian Erickson, both narrowly clearing the six-foot mark, with tall newcomer, Glenn Passvogel, a transfer from Arlington Heights, Ill. Gary Johanknecht, who also is over six feet tall, has been working out as a guard with Bill Spiegler, who is the team's shortest player at about five-foot, 10-inches.

Coach Schlatter said Tom Berto, who has not reported because of a football injury, and Jon Masterson, both clear six-foot four-inches. Tom Halverson is the other guard.

Coach Schlatter predicted Manawa, Weyauwega, Amherst and Waupaca should be the top teams in the Central Wisconsin conference this season. He said Manawa is small but has a lot of speed. Weyauwega is well rounded and Amherst has much scoring power back from last year.

Alumni Team

The alumni team scrimmaged with the Cornets last night and will meet Wisconsin Rapids Assumption Thursday night in another scrimmage.

The Cornets will open their season Nov. 16 with a conference game here with Bonduel. The next day, Nov. 17, the Cornets will travel to Clintonville to play a non-conference tilt with the Truckers of the Mid-Eastern conference.

Coach Schlatter said he is "moving" his better to outside the shooters to guard positions to improve the "out" shooting. He also, prove the "out" shooting. He also, prove the "out" shooting. He also, prove the "out" shooting.

Clintonville Votes Down Tax Rate Hike

$31 Figure Remains for Seventh Year

CLINTONVILLE — An increase in municipal tax rates Tuesday was voted down by Clintonville Common Council. A rate of $31 per thousand to finance the $887,434.67 was approved.

The decision marked the seventh year the city's tax rate has not gone above $31. In 1958, the tax rate was $30 per thousand. Revenue other than property tax is figured at $192,505, leaving $694,929.67 to be met by the property tax. The $31 rate adopted may be used to protect a community from a tax increase.

of $363,210 over the 1962 valuation figure of $21,823,150.

The tax levy for the city for 1963 is $197,425.61, the 1963 state and county tax levy is $173,000, and the school levy is $324,504.06.

Decrease Shown

The tax levy for the city shows a decrease of $30,664.14 from the 1962 figure of $228,089.75. Taken out of the previously proposed figures for 1963 under general government was $3,400 for improvements to the fire station and city hall; $9,000 from sewer maintenance and repair; $9,000 from sewer outlay; and $5,000 from new street machinery.

Mayor Frank Sinkiewicz pointed out that Ordinance No. 179 provides for operation of the sewage utility from operating revenue. Therefore, amounts shown for sewer maintenance and repair and the $9,000 sewer outlay should not be included in the budget figures.

Brillion Town Splits Over 2 Referendums

Voters Approve Zoning Law, Defeat Reassessment Plan

FOREST JUNCTION — Town of Brillion residents Tuesday split on two referendum questions.

Defeated was a proposal asking a professional appraisal firm to reappraise town property. The vote was 196 no and 175 yes.

Approved was adoption of Calumet County zoning ordinances, 240 to 143.

Approval of zoning makes the town the third, with Harrison and New Holstein, to approve the county program.

Town Chairman Wilmer Struebling, newly elected assemblyman, was rapped on the reassessment proposal. He had come out in favor of reassessment and urged a yes vote through the columns of weekly and daily newspapers serving the township.

Town board members feel property valuations have grown seriously out of proportion in relation to each other over the years. Town assessors have found the situation difficult to remedy. Struebling estimated the cost of reassessment at $5,000.

The general attitude of the voters apparently was that the so-called "true" value set professionally would soon become outmoded with ever changing conditions.

GREEN BAY (AP)—Rep. John Byrnes, a Green Bay native and its Republican congressman since 1944, was nearly barred from voting today.

Stockbridge Blocks Water, Sewer Plans

Village Electors Disapprove Program to Finance $180,000 Systems in Rural-Urban Split

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STOCKBRIDGE — Construction of municipal water and sewerage systems for the village was blocked indefinitely Tuesday when electors disapproved both parts of a two question referendum providing for financing of the proposed utilities.

The portion of the referendum ballot dealing with bonding for the water system was decisively defeated by a 140 to 78 margin.

The voting for the sewerage disposal system was far closer, with a scant seven vote margin deciding the issue. There were 119 no votes compared with 112 yes votes.

$180,000 Issue

Electors were not voting directly for or against either of the projects, but the end result will be the same. They were asked to authorize the village board to secure revenue bonding for the utilities' construction. If both water and sewerage system bonding had been authorized by the voters, the bonding total would have amounted to $180,000, with $90,000 to be assigned to each portion of the two-part project.

The sewerage system was of primary concern to the village and, had it been approved, the bonding authorization would have totaled just $90,000.

The village board has gone on record to abide by Tuesday's popular vote decision, although it still holds the power to order construction of the municipal sewerage system. Tuesday's voting represents a significant defeat for the Stockbridge Community Chamber of Commerce.

The civic promotional group has long supported municipal utilities to spur the village's residential growth.

Municipal utilities have been a controversial issue in the village because of its unique population makeup. The large rural population has traditionally opposed the utilities because they claim no benefits from them.

The urban portion of the village has traditionally taken an opposite site stand. The vote Tuesday ends more than a year of controversy that originated in September, 1961, when Dr. John Knauf, village health officer, called a public meeting and warned residents that existing sewage disposal methods — individual septic tanks with the overflow being directed in some instances into natural watercourses — constituted a menace to health.

The village board then hired an engineer, had feasibility surveys made and applied for a federal grant in aid for the sewerage system construction. The board, however, left the final decision to the electors.

Fluoridation Beaten 2 to 1 At Brillion

BRILLION — Fluoridation of the city's water supply was beaten by a two to one margin in a special referendum in Tuesday's election.

There were 541 no votes and 214 yes votes with 13 blank ballots.

Supporters said they had no immediate plans to again attempt the issue.

Fluoridation of the city's water supply as a dental health measure was a project of the local Jaycee chapter. For more than two months members had been holding panel discussions and conducting a general campaign in support of fluoridation.

City officials said they felt many of the voters went against fluoridation because of scare tactics used by anti-fluoride people. The Jaycees, in the final week before election, conducted a door-to-door and telephone campaign. Anti-fluoridation literature was mailed to every resident during the weekend.

Most incumbents were elected by a three to one majority.

Edward R. Macklin, New London, acting district attorney, was the strongest Democratic candidate in the contest. He polled 4,028 votes losing to Anderson, who had 7,219 votes.

Acting DA He was appointed acting district attorney by Circuit Judge Herbert A. Bunde when elected GOP district attorney Tom A. Browne became ill about a year ago.

Frazier, opposed by John T. Gough, Clintonville, led in all but two precincts. The vote was 8,366 for Frazier and 2,975 for Gough. Gough lost 104 to 146 in his home precinct, the Clintonville, where he is a sergeant on the county police force.

Raymond T. Pelishek, Clintonville, Democratic candidate for county surveyor, was elected without opposition. He polled 4,290 votes.

Veteran county assemblyman, Richard E. Peterson, won a 7,938 to 3,327 victory over Gerald T. Murphy, New London. This will be Peterson's seventh term. It was Murphy's first try at public office.

Calumet Republicans Elect Assemblyman, Treasurer gave the two GOP candidates involved in local contests, Wilmer Struebling and Merlin Zahn, easy victories over their Democratic opponents.

Struebling, 52, route 2, Brillion, defeated Paul Schwalbach, Darby, by 1,703 votes to become Calumet County's new representative on the state assembly. Struebling's total was 4,127 compared with 2,424 for Schwalbach. He carried 16 of the county's 17 precincts, including Schwalbach's home precinct, Harrison township.

In Kiel, Schwalbach had the edge. Struebling, a scrap metal dealer and farmer, will succeed Republican incumbent G. J. Hip-

Count Treasurer

In the contest for county treasurer Zahn, GOP incumbent, carried 15 of the 17 precincts and polled 3,967 votes. This was 1,319 more than his opponent, Gervase Hepler, route 2, Hilbert, who received 2,648 and carried Kiel and the Town of Charlestown. The victory gives Zahn his fourth term.

The top vote getter among county candidates was C. J. Kosmosky, who received 4,955 ballots for sheriff. A Republican, Kosmosky will succeed his wife in January when he begins his term as sheriff. He was unopposed.

Incumbent GOP vote totals for other county officers include Math A. Niles, clerk of Circuit Court, 4,940; F. J. Schmieder, district attorney, 4,867 and Leroy Hughes, coroner, 4,814. All were unopposed.

Unopposed Democratic incumbents and their vote totals were Roland E. Miller, county clerk, 5,934; Germaine Hume, register of deeds, 3,654; and Raymond E. Jensen, surveyor, 3,534.

Miller is the top vote getter among county Democrats.

The overall Calumet County vote was exceptionally high with 10 short of 7,000 ballots cast. This is believed to be an all-time record for an off election year. The county has a potential of between 10,000 and 11,000 qualified voters. There is no registration required of county voters.

7 Republicans, 1 Democrat Victors In State Assembly

Rogers Upsets Babbitt; Steiger, Martin, Shurbert, Peterson Victors

A vigorous campaign by William A. Rogers paid off Tuesday when the Kaukauna Democrat defeated Republican incumbent Marvin E. Babbitt, Seymour, by 1,087 votes for Outagamie County's Second District Assembly seat. The Rogers victory was not a major surprise, but was considered an upset. The final count was Rogers, 6,749 and Babbitt, 5,662.

Other assemblymen in the Fox Cities area will sit on the Republican side of the Assembly chamber in Madison.

Harold Froehlich, who defeated incumbent Kenneth Priebe in the September primary, swamped his Democratic foe, Robert W. Swanson, 12,436 to 3,888, in the Outagamie County First District Assembly race.

Incumbent Win County's other two assembly seats, Republican incumbents William Steiger, Jr. and Floyd Shurbert were easy winners. Steiger won in the First District over Mrs. Dorothy Gavin, 6,839 to 4,142, while Shurbert easily outpolled Herman Brandt, 12,744 to 3,747, in the Third District.

Wilmer Struebling, Brillion, won the Calumet County Assembly seat left vacant by the retirement of G. J. Hipke of New Holstein. Strueblings drew 4,127 votes to 2,424 for Paul Schwalbach of Darby, his Democratic opponent.

Veteran Republican Richard E. Peterson of Waupaca easily defeated Gerald T. Murphy of New London for Waupaca County's lone Assembly seat. Peterson drew 7,938 votes to 3,327 for Murphy.

Shawano and Menominee county voters returned Republican Theodore Abrahamson to his Assembly post. Abrahamson defeated Democrat Martin Weinig, 6,314 to 3,510.

Heavy Support Rogers, in his victory over Babbitt, had big margins in Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly and Combined Locks and in the Towns of Oneida, Kaukauna, Buchanan, Vandenberg and Freedom. It was Rogers' first try for elective office.

The rest of the Second District, which includes all of Outagamie County except Appleton and the Towns of Center and Grand Chute, supported Babbitt.

Rogers took a lead in the early returns, and never relinquished it throughout the night.

Froehlich won by comfortable margins in every precinct. An attorney making his first bid for elective office, Froehlich had been active in Outagamie County GOP affairs.

Requirements In his letter to Dr. Gaede, Dean Young said that, an applicant must be able to show genuine financial need, must have an undergraduate grade-point average of at least 3.3 (on a 4.0 scale), must perform excellently on the Law School Admission Test, and must come highly recommended by Dr. Gaede and at least two other Oshkosh State College faculty members.

The amount of the scholarship will depend primarily on the applicant's financial need, and will normally be at least sufficient to cover tuition expenses in full. The scholarship will continue during the holder's stay at the Wisconsin Law School, subject to variation depending on need, and provided the holder maintains an excellent academic record.

Discussion Planned On School Location

New London Educators Will See Planners About Site of Building

NEW LONDON — Board of education members viewed more proposed high school plans, discussed the site for the high school and various types of building material to be used in the new school at a special board meeting Monday night.

The new drawings viewed by the board were designed for the Abraham building site, one set designed for the academic wing on the south end, the other the academic section on the north.

During discussion on site of the new high school, board member Mrs. Marion Markman requested the board meet with the city planning commission to discuss the two sites. Board members favored the suggestion with exception of Debert Beno, who strongly objected. He said a meeting with the planning commission would delay the building program. Beno also stated the planning commission has hired attorneys in an attempt to stop use of the Abraham site.

Meeting Planned

Following the meeting, superintendent of schools, Lloyd Qualley, said he would contact Mayor Wilmer Schlatter and discuss a possible meeting with the planning commission. Mayor Schlatter Tuesday said he had agreed on behalf of the planning commission to meet with the board at some future date. The mayor added he suggested the meeting be held as soon as possible.

Prior to Monday night's meeting several members of the board stated they were under the impression they had voted to construct the school on the Abraham property. However Qualley said there is nothing in the minutes of any previous meeting to indicate the board ever voted on the Abraham site. A check on the board minutes, show on June 26 the board voted in favor of the Abraham site on a motion made by George Kopp. A roll call vote was taken. All members voted aye.

Options Taken

The only property owned by the school for building purposes is the Allen property on Werner-Allen Road. Options have been taken on a 30-acre site in the Abraham addition and the 12-acre site at Sugar Bush for the new elementary school, also in the planning stages.

Mrs. Markman also requested that at some future meeting she be allowed to present figures she has compiled on a probable difference in tax rates which may result if the high school is built on the Allen property or the Abraham property.

CHILTON — Three Chilton Tiger gridders were named to the all-conference team picked by Eastern Wisconsin Conference coaches.

The top Tiger selection was Jim Wagner. The 6-2, 205-pound senior was named to the end spot on both offensive and defensive teams. He was one of four in the league to make both squads.

Other Tigers named were Tom Dhein, a fleet-footed junior named to the offensive backfield, and Norm Ditter, middleguard on the defensive squad. Ditter, a senior, is 6-0 and 190 pounds.

Honorable mention recognition was given to Gary Lisowe as offensive guard and defensive line-backer. Other Tigers earning honorable mention were tackle Paul Woelfel and defensive halfback Dick Rollmann.

Three Brillion Lions were placed on the honorable mention defensive team. They were Jim Lodel, tackle, Ken Puser, line-backer, and Jerome Krueger, secondary.

Dominates Selections

Champion Plymouth dominated the all-star selections, placing eight boys on it. Runner-up Val-ders named, along with its coach, Rod Coughlin, who was chosen "coach of the year." Coughlin guided a lightly regarded Viking team to second place with many league observers of the opinion that only a few bad breaks kept the Vikings from going undefeated. They finished 7-1-1 overall.

There were no unanimous selections. Dick LaCroix, Valders tackle, and Mike Schuler, Plymouth, back, led the voting with eight apiece.

Other repeaters were Spletter, Kohler's Mike Kober in the back-

OFFENSE

DEFENSE

Democrats Add 2 Seats in Senate

Control Continues With Margin Of 64-36 Likely for Next Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats added at least two seats to their current 64-36 Senate margin today and were leading in the only two races still to be decided from Tuesday's election.

Victories in those two contests would give the Democrats a 69-31 margin over the Republicans. Seats in Alabama and Alaska remained in the undecided category.

Increase Margins

Six seats held by Republicans in the last session—in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, New Hampshire, South Dakota and Wisconsin — were captured by Democrats. Republicans picked up Democratic seats in Colorado and Wyoming.

Votes Divided By Wisconsin's Congressmen

Solons 'Scratched' Each Other's Stand On Several Issues

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Although Wisconsin sends ten congressmen to the House of Representatives, on several controversial issues con sidered during the second session of the 87th Congress, these ten members virtually scratched each other out by dividing their votes equally in the two opposing col umns.

One of the most outstanding ex amples of this was on legisla tion covering federal aid to in stitutions of higher learning. A motion was approved 214 to 186 to send the bill back to its com mittee for the purpose of deleting a provision permitting federal loans to students.

On this vote, the members split evenly, with Reps. Henry C. Schadeberg, Vernon W. Thomson, William K. Van Pelt, Melvin R. Laird and John W. Byrnes, all Republicans, voting in favor of removing the student loan clause. Voting to keep student loans in the bill were Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Clement J. Zablocki, Henry S. Reuss and Lester R. Johnson, all Democrats, and Alvin E. O'Konski, a Republican. A conference report, incidentally, was never filed on this measure, so it is killed for the session.

The membership also was even ly split on a bill to permit Presi dent Kennedy to negotiate tariff and lower agreements on Euro pean imports. Those voting for this bill, which was approved 298 to 125 included Reps. Kastenmeier, Zablocki, Reuss, Johnson and tions bill, approved 249 to 144. Schadeberg, Thomson and Van Pelt voting against it.

The Foreign Aid Appropria tion bill, which was approved 298 to 125 included Reps. Kastenmeier, Zablocki, Reuss, Johnson and Van Pelt voting against it.

Although the House did not vote on final passage of a bill to pro vide President Kennedy with the authority to commence a massive "public works" program, there was a motion to kill the bill by returning it to its committee to gather dust. This motion was defeated 192 to 221. Voting to kill the bill were Byrnes, Laird, Schadeberg, Thomson and Van Pelt. Voting against killing the measure were Johnson, Kastenmeier, Reuss, Zablocki and O'Konski.

Supper Planned

SHERWOOD — The St. Ann Altar Society of Sacred Heart Church will hold a potluck sup per at 7 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Ja cob Mueller, Mrs. Hilary Miller and Mrs. Hilard Brantmeier are on the program committee.

increased by late returns from Washington state and South Dako ta. The veteran Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., defeated Richard G. Christensen and George McGovern, former Food for Peace director, ousted Joe H. Botlum, R-S.D., who was appoint ed to succeed the late Sen. Fran cis Case.

The Senate generally gave a more favorable reception to Presi dent Kennedy's program in the last two years than the House.

It was the Senate which turned down Kennedy's Social Security health care plan this year, a propo sal he has pledged to resubmit in January.

Senate Democratic mem bers felt that a switch of one vote would have given them a victory on this measure last summer.

One new administration sup porter in the Senate will be the President's youngest brother, 30-year-old Edward M. Kennedy, who won overwhelmingly over George Cabot Lodge in Massa chusetts for the seat John F. Ken nedy occupied only two years ago.

Another will be Abraham A. Ribicoff, who left Kennedy's Cab inet where he was secretary of welfare to make the Senate race. Ribicoff defeated Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., Connecticut Re publican.

Took GOP Post

Ribicoff was one of the Demo crats to take over a GOP post. Others were Rep. Daniel B. Brewster, who beat former Republican Rep. Edward T. Miller in Mary land; Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson of Wisconsin who unseated the vet eran Sen. Alexander A. Wiley; senior GOP member of the Sen ate, Thomas J. McIntyre, victor over Rep. Perkins Bass in New Hampshire; and Birch E. Bayh, Jr., who defeated veteran Republi can Sen. Homer Capehart in Indiana.

The GOP Colorado race was won by Rep. Peter H. Dominick, who unseated Democratic Sen. John A. Carroll, a staunch Ken nedy administration supporter.

In Wyoming, former Gov. Mil ward L. Simpson defeated Sen. Joseph J. Hickey, a Democrat ap pointed to the seat two years ago. Senate leaders are expected to be the same when the new Con gress convenes Jan. 9.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and his assistant, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, were not up for re-election this year.

The Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and the GOP whip, Thomas H. Kuchel of California, both won re-election.

Republicans threatened to pull one of the biggest upsets of the election in Alabama where veter an Democratic Sen. Lister Hill battled for his political life.

Republican James D. Martin was in a neck-and-neck race with Hill throughout the count. The Democrat has been in the Senate since 1938, before that he served 14 years in the House.

Reynolds Out Shaking Hands At Plant Gates

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Governor-elect John W. Reynolds, who spent most of Tuesday night try ing to find out whether he would be the governor-elect, carried on a growing Wisconsin Democratic tradition by today's early light with the help of the man who started the whole thing.

Dawn found Reynolds, his wife, and the newly senior Sen. William Proxmire at the plant gates of the American Motors Corp.—shak ing hands with employees as they went in to work.

Proxmire, a weathered veteran of many dawns at many plant gates during earlier campaigns, suddenly won other Democrats to his cause in 1957, when he was the upset winner of a special election to pick a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis.

Proxmire was reelected in 1958, and by the 1960 presidential pri mary campaign not only Sen. Hubert Humphrey but members of then-Sen. John F. Kennedy's entourage adopted the plant gate approach to Wisconsin voters.

Death Query Fails to Stem Republican Vote

Fond du Lac Voters Elect GOP Man Over Democrat as District Attorney

FOND DU LAC — Residents of 236 Massey is the son of Fond this traditionally Republican du Lac County Agent George F. stronghold elected a new district attorney Tuesday, capping a cam paign which had the reopening of a mysterious death case as one of the underlying issues.

District Attorney Donald R. Marcille, the lone Democrat of ficeholder in the entire county government by virtue of an ap pointment by Gov. Nelson last summer was defeated in his bid for election by Tom Massey, 27, a Republican political newcomer and native of Green Bay.

Investigation

Massey, who recently graduated from Marquette University Law School and started a practice here, topped Marcille, 14,027 to 8,800.

In recent weeks Marcille press ed for further investigation by the sheriff's department into the May 22 death of LeRoy Som mers, a Fond du Lac cheese com pany executive. A coroner's in quest in July declared that Som mers took his own life.

Sheriff Leo J. Treleven, a Re publican, contended the case was closed. Last week Marcille claimed to have new evidence, a tape recording on which an ex-convict named Sommers' would-be killer. The informant had made several telephone calls to Mrs. Sommers indicating he knew who killed her husband.

At first Treleven balked at questioning the two men as or dered in a written directive from Marcille. After a two day "battle of statements" last week between the district attorney and sheriff Treleven called the informer and alleged suspect to the Safety Building for interrogation.

After talking to both men, Treleven announced over the week end that he still considered the Sommers' case closed.

No Comment

Marcille withheld comment, in dicated he had nothing to say until receiving a written report from the sheriff.

In recent weeks, Treleven con tended the district attorney was "electioneering," while Marcille charged the sheriff's office with "bungling the Sommers' investi gation right from the beginning."

Case Not Closed?

Although the sheriff considers the case closed, the state attor ney general's office apparently deems otherwise. George B. Schwahn, an assistant attorney general, Tuesday asked Fond du Lac County authorities for a re counting matter, including horse racing forms, and arrested the death of the Italian cheese prod ucer. Schwahn said it was a rou tine inquiry.

Over the weekend, Marcille was aid, a Republican, defeated Wil with local and state law enforce ment officials when they raided time city policemen, 15,503 to a downtown tavern, confiscated 6,874 for the sheriff's post.

College Trustees Told Change In Presidents Will be Smooth

Knight Says He Will Not Allow School to 'Get Rid of Him Quickly'

"There is no need for this transition between presidents to be anything but one of real tran quillity and of genuine help to the college," President Douglas M. Knight assured the Lawrence Col lege board of trustees in its semi-annual meeting Monday in Mil waukee.

Commenting on his recent elec tion as fifth president of Duke University, Knight said "I am not going to allow you to get rid of me quickly. The timing will be related to the Ford program. The terminal date has been set at January, 1964. It may happen that you will find your man in the next few months, and that you will be eager to get him here as soon as you can."

"I can make my life flexible to allow whatever time table seems wise for Lawrence. One of the happiest parts of this was the assurance from the Duke trustees that they would do nothing to up set my obligations or the obliga tions of the college. I will be here until you don't need me. There will be no gap, there will be no slack," he continued.

Compliment

"My recent decision," Knight said, "does not mean that Duke is more important than Law rence, what it does mean is that what we do here is so important that places like Duke have to look to places like Lawrence to pro vide them with what they need. It is indeed the very highest com pliment that could be paid Law rence and the greatest possible strengthening of what we do in a corporate sense."

He pointed out that the trustees will "have the help of the most discerning and knowledgeable people in the country" in the search for a new president and that their job would be difficult because they will be faced with the task of selecting from a group of "five or 13 absolutely in strate people."

"This is the most desirable col lege presidency in the United States," Knight said. "Not for the time to seek a range of social venal reason that the president, background, so the college would always seem to go on to a uni not be "merely the happy home of the upper middle class," and guarantee a range of competence in the student body so they would not be merely one type.

"You may be assured that there will always be the 'C' students as well as the 'A' students at Law rence. Where, as someone has said, would the presidents of the United States come from if no 'C' students were admitted to col lege?" Knight pointed out.

College Faculty

The Lawrence president de voted part of his report to the nature of a college faculty.

"There is always the fear on the part of the faculty that trust ees are only men of money; there is the fear on the part of the trustees that the faculty is composed only of dangerous left ists."

"It is important," he went on, "that the faculty members recognize that trustees are men or women of real influence in the communities in which they live; the trustees, on the other hand, must recognize that a faculty member is someone who will pursue relentlessly, but responsibly, an idea that we may not under stand—not as a propagandist, but as some one who in the end will admit the fact when he finds him self wrong. You do not want the kind of faculty who are propa gandizers; you do want a faculty who will stand up for their be liefs, who will disagree with presi dents, deans and trustees. Other wise, your presidents will have failed you; they will have found for you faculty who are very dull people."

Addressing himself finally to the major fund-raising effort on which the college is now embark ing, President Knight said, "As we do all we can to land the program our support, it becomes a very feasible goal. Our power to give will vary enormously, but if we each take our part, it will work out. I am not filled with fears about the college at all. I hope you will feel assured that I shall go on doing the job that Lawrence needs in the months I am going to be with you; and that in the long run I have added to the strength of the college rather than taking away from it by the move I am going to make."

Chilton Commission Sets Recommendation For Sewage Project

Asks City Council for Approval Of $245,997 Rejuvenation Plans

CHILTON — The Utilities Commission has drafted a recommendation to the City Council asking that the $245,997 sewage treatment plant rejuvenation project be approved.

The council was represented by a majority at the informational meeting called by the commission. Aldermen present included Dr. Miles Agee, Emil Jodar, Arno Weller, William Hertel and Emil Schaff. Mayor Elmer Daun was also present as a city government representative.

Council approval of the project, for which a $67,933 federal grant-in-aid is available, probably will not be achieved easily. To date there has been no appropriation for the project placed in the 1963 budget, and planning is in advanced stages.

The project and budget will be discussed at Wednesday's council meeting.

Review of Plans

A complete review of the proposed rejuvenation plans was conducted at the meeting. Present to explain them was M. O. Clinton, engineer for the McMahon Engineering Co., Menasha. Also at the meeting were Oscar Egger, Fond du Lac district sanitary engineer for the State Board of Health, and Leonard Montie, a representative of the board's headquarters at Madison.

Both verified that the plant was run down from its 20-plus years of service but hastened to explain that it was still highly efficient. On the date of last inspection the plant was operating at 93 per cent efficiency, 3 per cent higher than the average.

Some discussion was devoted to a recent innovation in sewage treatment, the lagoon method, but has been all but ruled out.

In addition to remodeling and replacing worn equipment, the McMahon plans call for increasing the treatment plant's capacity. The present unit was designed for a 10,000 to 13,000 population maximum. While the city's population is still far short of the plant's maximum, the industrial wastes handled by the plant has already reached a peak of 35,000 population when the canning season is in progress.

The new plant would have a 20,000 to 22,000 population capacity under normal conditions and with alum injection and the employment of auxiliary aerators, the proposed plant would meet all needs.

School Group Tells Activities

Re-Districting and Little Wolf Project Major Waupaca Jobs

WAUPACA — Activities of the county school committee during the year were outlined to the county board Monday by Reuben Nelson, Waupaca, committee chairman.

Nelson said the committee complied with state law by having all elementary districts in high school districts by the July 1 deadline.

He pointed out some districts had to be divided because of bus routes. Not all of the people are happy with the arrangements. He said the splits were necessary to avoid duplication of bus routes.

Major Activity

He said formation of the Little Wolf Common School District in the Manawa area was the major activity of the year. The district was formed by dissolving the union high school district and the component elementary districts. It was contested in Circuit Court but Judge Herbert A. Bunde ruled in favor of the school committee.

Nelson suggested the people of the Weyauwega Union High School District may consolidate into an integrated district in the future. He said the state favors consolidated districts with additional state aids, which reduce the local tax levy.

Supv. Clifford Nolan, Town of Little Wolf, suggested consideration of establishing a unit in the county to offer adult vocational training.
